White House Hits Back at Russ Premier

Reissues Soviet
Statement of 6
Months Ago

UNUSUAL MOVE

Message Last April in
'Profound Sympathy
With Noble Appeal'

Washington—(AP)—Striking back indirectly at Russian Premier Molotov's criticism of his lending "moral support" to Finland, President Roosevelt has produced a six-month-old Soviet statement which focused capital attention on American relations with Moscow.

Without explanation or comment, the White House re-issued last night a cablegram from President Kalinin of Russia expressing "profound sympathy" for Mr. Roosevelt's efforts to prevent attacks on Finland, Poland and other countries. It was first made public in April.

The unusual action followed:

1. White House speculation as to whether it was "purely coincidental" that Molotov's speech Tuesday came as the house was debating neutrality legislation.

2. A demand by Representative McCormack (D-Mass.) that the American ambassador be recalled from the "anti-God" soviets.
- Molotov, in a speech to Soviet deputies, had said that Mr. Roosevelt was "intervening" in Russian-Finnish negotiations "in contradiction of the United States' policy of neutrality."

He said also that if the United States repeated its arms embargo, it would "intensify, aggravate and protract" the European war.

Stephen T. Early, a presidential secretary, told reporters yesterday that it seemed to him Molotov had the embargo in mind when he criticized the president.

A few hours later, reporters at the White House were given copies of the president's peace appeal to Adolf Hitler in April, a cablegram of endorsement from Kalinin, and Mr. Roosevelt's acknowledgment.

The message to Hitler asked if he was willing to give assurances that Germany's armed forces would not invade certain nations. Among those listed were Poland, Finland, Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania, all of which have figured in recent Russian negotiations for use of territory for Soviet military purposes.

Kalinin's Reply

Kalinin cabled Mr. Roosevelt "an expression of profound sympathy with the noble appeal," and gave assurances that "it finds most ardent response in the hearts of the peoples of the Soviet Union."

Shortly before Mr. Roosevelt dug up this correspondence, Representative McCormack told the house that recall of the American ambassador "should be the answer of the United States to Molotov's attempt to influence American public opinion."

Germany and Russia, he asserted, were "anti-God" forces in the world today, and he added that the arms embargo offered them "practical aid."

The flareups over Molotov's address came while the state department still was inquiring into Russia's course in the city of Flint. The American freighter was seized by a German prize crew and taken to a Russian port. It now is enroute down the Norwegian coast, with the prize crew in charge and the Americans still aboard.

The state department experienced delay in obtaining information about the ship, from the Soviet government. The contention has been advanced in some quarters that Russia had no right to shelter the vessel, but Soviet officials said they were advised that her machinery was damaged and that she had to put into port.

Moscow—(AP)—A Finnish delegation trod the familiar path to the Kremlin today with a decision imminent on Soviet Russia's request for military and territorial concessions.

The Finns, who already had made two trips here, arrived this morning and were expected to resume negotiations late this afternoon in an atmosphere sharpened by Soviet Premier-Vyacheslav Molotov's public declaration Tuesday of the Russian aims.

Do You Remember The Dollar of Gold?

Attempts to care for the forgotten man are very praiseworthy. The forgotten man is the one on the silver dollar. Used to be a well-preserved person, and a good many folk are hoping she hasn't changed much since they saw her last. Of course, the quickest way to renew acquaintance with her is to tell something you no longer need thru the Post-Crescent classified want-ads. Trade Deals are Pushed Between Germany, Russia

Separate Quarters Set Up
For Exchange of Products Between Countries

Berlin—(AP)—A great whirl of activity in the Soviet Russian trade headquarters today was visible evidence of nazi-communist economic cooperation whereby Germany hopes to get raw materials she needs for the war.

The trade deal with Russia has brought about a rush of business which has overflowed the Russian embassy. A separate headquarters has been established for the exchange of products as Russian-German political and economic objectives daily draw closer together.

While the German press was exulting in the praise Soviet Premier-Vyacheslav Molotov for outlining a foreign policy in which a strong Germany was regarded as necessary, economic cooperation between the states was being accelerated.

Russian agents were securing vast orders for machinery and other industrial products. In Russia, meanwhile, German buyers were ordering Russian wheat, lumber and ores.

Barter Arrangement

Little money was involved because the deal was essentially one of barter arrangements on which German foreign commerce is based.

The original trade agreement called for German purchases in Russia amounting to about $80,000,000 but the deal subsequently was extended to an undisclosed amount.

Returning from Moscow was German ambassador to Russia, Count Friedrich Werner von der Schulenburg. Called home to make a report which an authorized spokesman said "certainly should be good news," he was the third Nazi envoy recently summoned to the capital for a poll of opinion.

Von Mackensen Reports

Hans-Georg Viktor von Mackensen, ambassador to Italy, arrived earlier in the week and has submitted his observations on the Italian government shakeup Tuesday.

Franz von Papen, ambassador to Turkey, has reported on the Turkish-British-French mutual assistance pact and has started back to Ankara.

German political leaders, meanwhile, expressed satisfaction with the trend of German-Russian relations.

Report Assails Prison Regime

Michigan Corrections Director Angered Over
Break in September

Lansing, Mich.—(AP)—In a report made public today, Edward G. Heckel, state corrections director, assailed the administration of the Michigan branch prison at Marquette.

The report was released by John W. Miner, Jackson, chairman of the state corrections commission.

Referring to a prison break Sept. 25 in which four convicts seized four officials as hostages, Heckel declared:

"It is amazing to know that no arrangements had been made prior to that hour to attempt to stop the inmates after they had gotten out of the gate."

Heckel reported it was fortunate that someone with the ability to "think under fire" had delayed the prisoners for an hour while state police set up traps to intercept them outside the prison walls.

"But such a plan should have been thought out months, yes years, ago," Heckel said.

He condemned installing gas equipment to detect attempts at escape and automatic searching devices to disclose weapons concealed by prisoners.

Charging that some convicts were given special privileges because they were serving life sentences, Heckel said many phases of the prison administration "appear to be done because they always have been done that way" since the prison was opened 50 years ago.

Dinneen Preliminary Hearing Is Concluded

Madison—(AP)—The preliminary hearing for William M. Dinneen, former secretary of the public service commission, accused of two counts of perjury in connection with his income tax returns, was concluded late yesterday.

Presiding Judge Roy H. Proctor filed state and defense counsel to file briefs on the case by Nov. 15 and reply briefs by Nov. 22. They made no oral arguments at the hearing.

After studying the testimony and the briefs, Judge Proctor will decide whether or not Dinneen should be bound over for trial on the charges brought by the state.

GARNER TRIES OUT NEW GAVEL

Among the many gavels in Vice President Garner's collection is a new one of Florida cedar carved with his likeness, cigar and all. In a playful mood, he is shown about to bring it down on the unsuspecting head of Mrs. Garner. He immediately thought better of the idea, however.

Soviet Union Virtually in Control Over Ships in U. S., Chairman of Probers Thinks

Washington—(AP)—Chairman Dies (D-Texas) of the house committee on Un-American Activities expressed the opinion today that Soviet Russia was "virtually in control of the situation here as far as our ships are concerned."

He made the comment after hearing testimony of Frederick C. Phillips of New York that 80 per cent of the leadership in the National Maritime union was Communist and that "the other 20 per cent are afraid to open their mouths."

"Then the union is virtually under the control of the Communist party," Dies asked.

"Yes," was the reply.

"Then you might say," the chairman continued, "that Russia has more control over the situation than the United States?"

"You might," Phillips agreed.

"It seems to me that the Soviet Union is virtually in control of the situation here so far as our ships are concerned," Dies said.

Charges Murder Attempt

After Phillips, a former union official, testified that an attempt had been made to murder him because of his opposition to communism in the N.M.U., Dies urged him to present his case to the justice department, William McCusick, a preceding witness who related a similar story, complained to the department yesterday.

"There appears to have been a conspiracy on the part of N.M.U. officials to destroy the civil rights of an individual," Dies commented.

Earlier, Dies asked justice department help in subpoenaing George Mink, described by a committee witness as a Soviet secret police agent in this country.

William McCusick, self-styled former Communist and a former leader of the CIO's National Maritime union, told the committee recently that Mink could give orders to Earl Browder, general secretary of the Communist party in the United States, and that he was the "power behind the scenes" in maritime work on the west coast.

McCusick, who was taken into police custody Tuesday in connection with the case, was in connection with the case.

Assail Revamping Of Regent Board

Equity Told 'Real Purpose' Was to Eliminate
Farm, Labor Groups

Portage, Wis.—(AP)—Numerous delegates to the state convention of the Farmers' Educational and Co-operative Equity union today expressed opposition to the recent reorganization of the University of Wisconsin Board of Regents.

Following closely on the charge of the equity president, Kenneth Hones of Colfax, that "the real purpose behind" the reorganization was to "eliminate representatives of farmers and labor organizations and pack it (the board) with big business representatives," the delegates took the floor to voice their views.

The discussions were held during a forum after Claude Lyons, the union's legislative representative, had reviewed the legislature's action on agricultural bills presented during the recent session.

Several delegates asserted that cigars should have been included in the measure under which cigars were taxed.

Closer cooperation between labor and agriculture as a means of effecting a more solid organization of their ranks was advocated here yesterday by Hens. O.H. Jr., president of the state federation of labor.

He told the convention that both labor and the farmer had frequently shown themselves "glibble" in economical and political matters.

3 of 13 Inmates of School Recaptured.

Others Being Sought

St. Charles, Ill.—(AP)—Three of 13 inmates of the St. Charles School for Boys who overpowered a guard and fled from the unvalued institution last night were recaptured today.

The wholesale break occurred about 7:30 p. m., at the Cleveland cottage on the school grounds. About twenty boys were in the basement exercise room, 15 more in the upstairs reading room.

Superintendent William T. Harmon said that at an apparently prearranged signal several boys in the basement room rushed Fletcher Thompson, 25, a Negro assistant recreational director, overpowered him and forced him to unlock an outer door that permitted them to escape.

Neutrality Bill Erases Causes of Involvement In War, Rayburn States

Minnesota Truck Drivers to Face Arrest in State

Plan Action Unless 'Utter Disregard' of Agreement
Is 'Corrected'

Madison—(AP)—Minnesota truckers not equipped with Wisconsin license plates will be arrested beginning Nov. 7 unless the "utter disregard" of the state's reciprocity agreement is "corrected," Hugh Jones, deputy commissioner of the motor vehicle department, disclosed last night.

Jones, who wrote a letter to Mike Holm, Minnesota secretary of state, protesting the "situation," said an investigation had revealed numerous Wisconsin farmers hauling milk and livestock, and commercial haulers had been arrested by Minnesota officers near the state line in violation of the agreement between the two states.

Jones letter said in part:

"Numerous instances are being called to our attention of the utter disregard of reciprocity between our two states by Minnesota enforcement officers."

"We have found conditions even worse than reported and in justice to our Wisconsin citizenry living along the border we find it necessary to take some action to correct this situation, unless some assurance is received from your department and the Minnesota highway enforcement department that the situation has been corrected."

"Our reciprocity, according to Wisconsin law, is extended on the basis of receiving like reciprocity. Consequently, our enforcement officers are being informed to arrest all Minnesota commercial vehicles operating in Wisconsin after Nov. 7 without Wisconsin 1939-40 plates."

British Planes Bring Down German Bomber Over Northern France

Lille, France—(AP)—Two British fighting planes today brought down a German bomber in a sky skirmish over northern France.

The German pilot was killed, an officer aboard the plane wounded and two other occupants were captured unharmed.

The encounter occurred in the extreme north corner of France near the Belgian border and the English channel.

At a low altitude the British planes overtook the German and rapidly fired one round of bullets each, driving the plane to ground.

The Nazi plane crashed against a hedge on the bank of a brook, opening was shattered against a telephone pole.

The German plane was believed to have gone astray from a squadron which passed over northern France, causing an air raid alarm in the Lille district.

Claude Gillingwater Shoots Self to Death

Beverly Hills, Calif.—(AP)—The shocking death of bushy-browed Claude Gillingwater, 69, lovable character actor of stage and screen, stirred the film colony today.

Detestives, summoned by the kindly old fellow's housekeeper, found the body late yesterday in a chair in a closet of Gillingwater's quiet home, a bullet wound through the chest.

Four neatly-typed notes—one to the police and the others to his son, his physician and his housekeeper—told of suicide, said Detective A. J. Gebhart.

Gillingwater, more than six feet tall, thin and stooped, alternated in film roles between self-righteous crookedness, honest crustiness and mellow thoughtfulness, depending on whether he played the part of a shady-principled banker, a judge, or a southern gentleman.

British Freighter Reports She Is Safe; American Ships Suspend Search for Vessel

Washington—(AP)—The coast guard received word today that the British freighter Coulmore was safe.

The word was received by the coast guard cutter Bibb from a Canadian radio station at Campdown at 2:30 a.m. (1:30 a.m. C.S.T.). The station said it had heard directly from the Coulmore that she was safe. Search for the vessel was suspended.

The Bibb was the leader of a squadron of coast guard and navy vessels scouring the Atlantic for the freighter about 680 miles east of New York after the interception early yesterday morning of a distress signal which indicated the freighter might have been attacked by a submarine.

The position given by the Coulmore at that time indicated it was just inside the neutrality safety belt around the Americas fixed at the recent Pan American neutrality meeting in Panama.

Council Votes to Start Work On $218,308 WPA Storm Sewer Project; Koepke to Make Pipe

What Council Did:

Accepted bids on concrete sewer pipe and authorized the start of the $218,308 WPA storm sewer project.

Asked city attorney for written opinion on the legal right of aldermen or city officials to sell commodities to the city.

Ordered city clerk to frame a formal request of the county board to place Meade street on the county trunk system.

Hired an attorney to revise city ordinances and bring them up to date.

Authorized the city engineer to draw plans for a grandstand to be built at Spencer field.

A start on the $218,308 WPA storm sewer project was authorized by the city council last night and the Koepke Construction company, Appleton, was given the contract to furnish sewer pipe on a low bid of $18,114.

Four aldermen voted against the project, Aldermen Franzke, Rehfeldt, Doerflinger and Kauji. They explained that they did not oppose the storm sewer project but believed the Union street line, relieving the Erb park area, should be started before the Mason-Winnebagoo street line, relieving the area in the vicinity of the high school.

The council ordered the city engineer to start on the Durkee street and Mason-Winnebagoo street lines over the objections of the four aldermen. A 24-inch sewer will be built on Durkee street from Washington street to College avenue, mostly in tunnel. It will relieve flood conditions along College avenue and will run into the Atlantic street sewer.

The Mason-Winnebagoo street sewer will be a 24-inch line south on Mason street to Badger avenue, and north on Mason to Winnebagoo street and westward with an 18-inch sewer on Winnebagoo from Mason to Gillette street.

Koepke will furnish 1,510 feet of 24-inch pipe at $2,808.60; 660 feet Turn to page 2 col. 1

Dancer Sentenced In Espionage Case

Gets Five-Year Term;
Others Given Lighter
Penalties

Geneva—(AP)—A 35-year-old dancer known as "Nina" was sentenced to five years in prison today by five Swiss judges who found her guilty of espionage and treason.

Roger Joel, a former draftsman in a Swiss arms factory, jointly convicted on the same charges, was sentenced to three years imprisonment.

The convictions carried loss of civil rights for three years in the case of Joel and 10 years in the case of the dancer, who was on the docket as Virginia Capt. Rota.

Paul Rochat, a Geneva detective was not to trial at the same time, was convicted of political activity in behalf of a foreign state and sentenced to 15 months in prison. His wife, Dolly, received a 10-month suspended sentence on the same charge.

The state charged the Rochats had transmitted military and political information to the Italian consul-general in Geneva, but did not accuse them of treason.

In final arguments yesterday government attorneys had asked five-year terms for "Nina" and Joel.

The dancer, accused by the government on heading a far-reaching spy ring but described by her own attorneys as a mere pawn of mysterious "higher ups," heard the sentence apparently unmoved.

Sled Crew on Way to Rescue Mother, Baby

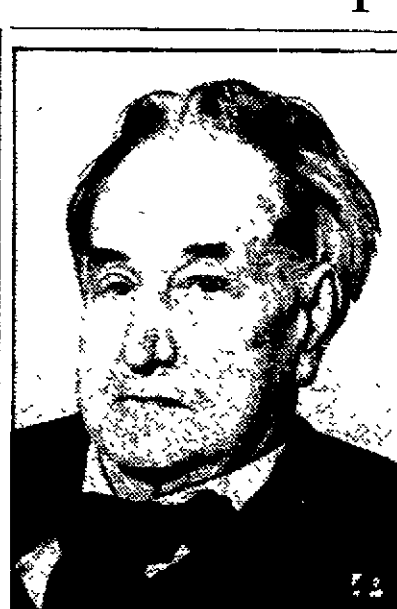

Anchorage, Alaska—(AP)—Friends expressed anxiety for the health of a mother and her 18-day-old baby today as they awaited word from a dog sled crew attempting to reach the pair, stranded by a forced landing of their plane on a small lake.

The rescuers planned to take Mrs. Christine Beckman, her daughter, Pilot Jimmy Dodson and Ole Blendheim, another passenger, to McGrath, small community 12 miles away. Forced down in a driving snowstorm Monday night, the plane could not take off because the lake was too small.

The temperature fell to four above zero Tuesday night.

Pilot Kenneth Neese, who has directed rescue operations, said the dog team made slow progress because it was necessary for one man to go ahead to break trail with snowshoes. The party was forced to take an round-about 25-mile river course from McGrath.

Majority Leader Cites Situation of 22 Years Ago NEARING VOTE

WRITER STRICKEN

Opie Read, contemporary of Mark Twain and other famous American writers, died today in Chicago. He would have been 87 years old in December.

Opie Read, Noted American Writer, Dies in Chicago

Succumbs to Infirmities
Induced by Extreme
Heat in September

Chicago—(AP)—Opie Read, last of a pioneer American literary line that included Mark Twain, Eugene Field and James Whitcomb Riley, died today of infirmities induced by September's extreme heat. He would have been 87 years old Dec. 22.

The genial wit, novelist and raconteur died in the south side home of Mrs. Belle King, widow of a devoted friend of yore, where for many years celebrities and obscure persons fraternized at open house celebrations on Read's birthday anniversaries.

Read was founder of the Arkansas Traveler, humorous paper, author of 52 books and coiner of epigrams unnumbered, and even in his advancing years had few peers as a teller of stories.

Among his books were "Len Gansett" (written in 1888), "The Jucklins" (1895) and "Turkey-Egg Griflin" (1905). At 76 he wrote the Gold Gauge Veil, regarded then as his biography, but a more complete story of his life appeared years later in "I Remember."

His last work was "The Autobiography of the Devil; Satan's Side of It," of which Read said: "I have tried to put into it just what I imagined Satan would say of manners and morals and philosophy, as dictated to a sinner."

Although many of his writings contemporaries outshone him in literary technique and public adulation, none surpassed him in the warmth of personality, philosophical tranquility and appreciation of beauty.

Report German Tanker Sunk by Her Own Crew

London—(AP)—A British admiral's spokesman said today the 4,327-ton German tanker Emmy Friedrich, carrying 40,000 barrels of American oil, was scuttled by her crew in the Caribbean sea Oct. 24 to avoid capture by a British cruiser.

The Emmy Friedrich sailed from Tampico, Mexico, Oct. 20 with her oil cargo. Clearance papers showed the ship was bound for Malmo, Sweden, but shortly after her departure foreign intelligence agents in Mexico City said they were investigating reports she would serve as a supply ship for German submarine raiders in the western Atlantic.

Her oil cargo was taken on at Fort Arthur, Texas, just before the war. Leaving there for Hamburg, Germany, the tanker put in at Tampico when war broke out.

Wiley and Johns Will Speak at Manitowoc

Washington—(AP)—Senator Wiley and Representative Johns, Wisconsin Republicans, said today they would speak at a Republican rally in Manitowoc, Wis., Nov. 11.

Wiley said he also would speak at congress adjournment before then, at meetings of the Wisconsin Council of Agriculture at Madison, Wis., Nov. 3 and the Wisconsin Cheese association at Beaver Dam, Nov. 8 and 9.

House Soon to Pass on Proposed Repeal of Arms Embargo

Washington—(AP)—Majority Leader Rayburn told the house today that the administration's proposed neutrality law would remove those causes of involvement which "got this country into the war 22 years ago."

Commanding the careful attention of the house, the administration spokesman made one of the closing arguments over the measure a short time before the house was expected to begin voting on its most controversial provision, repeal of the present embargo on arms sales to warring nations.

He and other house leaders appeared confident this and less important issues would be disposed of during the afternoon and the measure started on its way through the final phases of becoming the nation's second neutrality statute of the present war.

Adjournment of the special session Saturday night was predicted. Unlike the present law the administration bill would set up a system of cash and carry commerce with belligerents—permitting the sale of arms, munitions and other goods on that basis.

Praises Restrictions

Harking back to the days before American entrance into the World War, Rayburn lauded the cash carry and other restrictions on American shipping now proposed, and asked:

"What's the picture if we have no legislation at all?"

"We have reckless American citizens traveling on belligerent ships," he continued. "We have American ship owners sending ships through danger zones with American cargoes and American sailors."

The Texan told his colleagues he was afraid that if the administration bill did not become law, "something might happen" which would transform the nation from a peace-minded country to a war-like nation, just as before the last war.

He said, before the change occurred over a 60-day period.

Speaker Bankhead disclosed he expected neutrality legislation would be put into final form by a joint committee of senate and house members tomorrow or Saturday.

Then, despite Republican insistence that congress remain in session both to consider domestic legislation and be ready to act on international problems, the speaker indicated his belief that the Democratic majorities would put over a vote to end the session.

Such a quick conclusion has been desired by President Roosevelt. Adjournment this Saturday would mean congressmen could go home for eight weeks, until the regular session begins Jan. 3.

Repeal Vote

In debate today the house was urged by Representative Luther Johnson (D-Texas) "to carry out the will of the American people" and support repeal of the arms embargo.

Remembering that Premier Vyacheslav Molotov of Russia had criticized the United States foreign policy this week while the house was in the midst of the neutrality discussion, Johnson said:

"It's no longer a question to carry out the will of the American people. The polls have spoken, the senate has spoken and I am admonishing you to be just and fear not."

Asserting that the arms embargo has not worked—"it was only a noble experiment, although a noble experiment," John criticized arguments of anti-repealists that it

Italian-Greek Pact Seen as Mussolini Peace Bid in Balkans

Rome—(AP)—Athens dispatches reporting an Italian-Greek peace agreement were regarded in diplomatic circles today as fresh evidence of Premier Mussolini's leadership in efforts to keep war out of the Balkans.

(The Greek government announced an exchange of letters with Italy "contributing to the preservation of peace in this part of Europe.")

Nothing has been disclosed here concerning the Italian-Greek negotiations, but diplomats heard two days ago that the two states were about to sign a non-aggression pact.

Foreign circles pointed out that Italy now is on good terms with the Balkan countries which lies within Rome's sphere of influence. These sources considered new relations with Turkey satisfactory although Italy was not considered likely to sign an agreement with that power since it might give the appearance that Mussolini was lining up with Britain and France with whom Turkey signed a mutual aid pact Oct. 18.

Higher Standards Are Advocated at Teachers Confab

Doudna Advises Against Concentration on Legislative Efforts

Milwaukee—(P)—Wisconsin teachers should devote their primary organized effort to seeking high standards for their educational ideals and practices, President Edgar G. Doudna of the Wisconsin Education association said today, rather than center their attention on teacher welfare legislation.

Doudna told the teachers' opening convention session that their organization "while never forgetting its obligations to teacher welfare should consider its primary object to be the personal and professional improvement of its members and those who are to become teachers."

Recalling the educational advances of the 86 years since the association was organized, Doudna said:

"The teaching profession will progress just in the degree that it accepts its privileges, its opportunities its security as obligations not as rights, as means not as ends, as an evidence of the faith that the public has in its teachers."

Legislative Gains

"Increased standards for teachers through advanced certification regulations, a fair minimum salary law, a reasonably adequate retirement system, and a measure of protection against personal and political dismissal have been achieved," he said.

"The association will continue its support of all measures which are looking to the teachers' welfare. But if we make these the sole, or indeed the principal objectives of our organized efforts, we shall be betraying the faith of the founders of the association and of the people who have come to have an almost mystical faith in the transforming power of the schools."

"To command the respect and merit the support of those who pay for the schools and those who entrust their children to them, it is imperative that our thinking and activities be directed to raising still higher the standards of our educational ideals and practices."

William A. Irwin, associate educational director of the American Institute of Banking, told the convention that "the American philosophy of life is being challenged today from abroad and in the United States."

"We have unemployment; we have ups and downs in business," Irwin said, "but every defect can be cured in the American way . . . by freedom of government and our free economic system. We do not have to adopt any other plan."

Election of officers by the representative assembly was the first important business scheduled for consideration at the three-day convention.

Earnest Pletch, Airplane Slayer, Begins Sentence

Changes His Plea to Guilty and Goes to Prison For Life

Jefferson City, Mo.—The eccentric flying career of a Hoosier farmhand who had a passport to be an aviator ended in a forced landing here today as Earnest (Larry) Pletch began a life term in the state prison.

In a surprise move at Macon, Mo., yesterday, Pletch, 29, pleaded guilty to slaying flying instructor Carl Bivens one mile above Macon county and was given a life sentence by Circuit Judge Harry J. Libby.

Earlier, Pletch had waived preliminary hearing and promised Judge Libby never to apply for a pardon or parole. The judge said the sentence was in accordance with the wish of Bivens' widow.

Later at Frankfort, Ind., the youth's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Pletch, expressed satisfaction. Said the mother:

"Guy had hoped maybe we could save Earnest's life. We're thankful to learn about it. It is a great burden off my mind."

A few hours after sentence, Missouri highway patrolmen brought Pletch to the penitentiary where "dressing in" wrote the final chapter to a 5-day serial story that started Friday with a flying lesson which proved to be a "tailspin" for the flying romo.

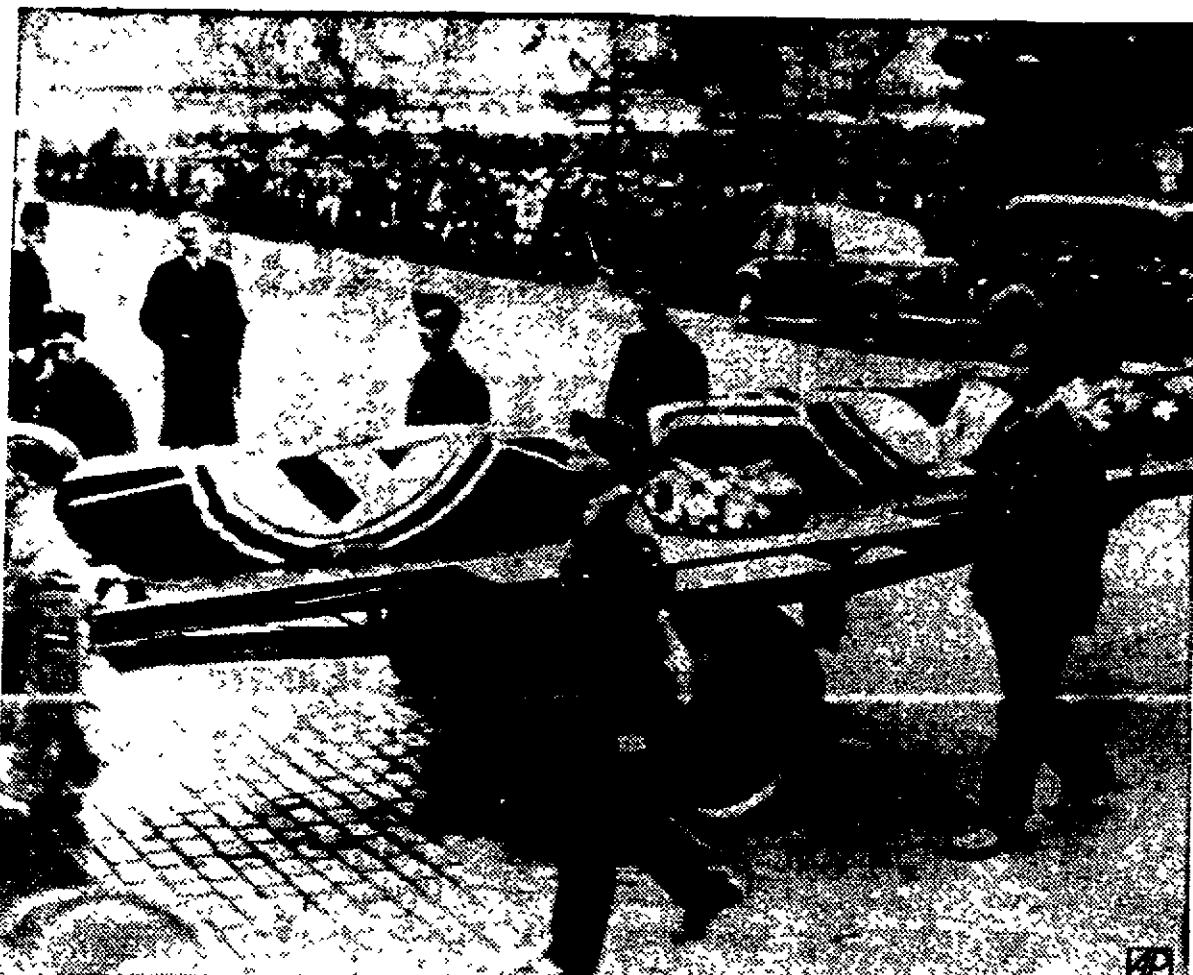

It was then that Pletch, an amateur pilot who was dubbed "flying Lochman" last summer when he wooed a young Illinois girl in a 5-day air jaunt, took off with Bivens, 38, at Brookfield, Mo.

Forty minutes later when they were 5,000 feet above Macon county, Pletch told Prosecutor Vincent Moody, he took a revolver from his overalls and "fired a bullet into the back of his (Bivens) head."

Pletch spent the night at a Missouri farm after landing and hiding Bivens' body near Cherry Box, and was arrested Saturday near Bloomington, Ind.

BRITAIN PAYS TRIBUTE TO FALLEN GERMAN AIRMEN

Actions of Russia and Italy Indicate Nazis Will be Alone In Field Against the Allies

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE

New York—(P)—The pseudo-war between the Anglo-French allies and Germany has now boiled down to a point where one can begin to get an idea of what it will look like when it jells—if it does jell.

What with Soviet Premier Molotov's categorical reiteration of Russian "neutrality," and Mussolini's purge of pro-Nazi officials to insure a non-belligerent position for Italy, the conflict finally has been restricted for the present, at least—to the chief contestants.

That is to say, we have the economic and military resources of Germany stacked up against the combined strength of England and France. Outside supplies may be open to all belligerents—if they have any way to pay for them.

It is a matter of statistics that the joint resources of the allies in men, materials and money, greatly exceed those of the reich. The normal allied superiority has been increased by Germany's bad economic position.

Nazis Need Help

That leaves it to the nazis to offset this advantage either by better military machinery and leadership or by acquisition of outside help, or both.

Since the start of the war there has been little doubt that Mussolini's whole wish has been to steer clear of German entanglements. The golden cord that has bound Berlin and Rome appears very badly frayed.

Observers generally also have believed that Russia intended to remain off the battle-field, playing the allies and Germany against each other to the ultimate advantage of Russia and communism. However, there has been an element of doubt, and this has made it impossible to gauge the situation accurately.

Were Russia to throw all its resources, including military, into the conflict on the side of nazism it would completely change the complexion of the war. Herr Hitler's stature would increase immensely.

That seems to be written off, however, by Molotov's statement of neutrality. There is no reason to doubt that it is the present intention of the Muscovites to stay out of the fight.

Supplies of Importance

There still remains the highly important matter of supplies which Russia has promised to provide Germany. These in themselves seem bound to protract the war, and they might even have a vital bearing on its outcome. That depends on how extensive they are.

We still have to learn (1) What supplies Russia has available, (2) What part of her store she is prepared to give Hitler, and (3) Whether she has transportation facilities to move in some cases clear across Siberia from the far east—those supplies which she is to turn over to Germany.

The whole thing is one big "if," and it must be such even to Herr Hitler. It is an "if," too, which the nazi fuhrer must be pondering deeply, since Germany would starve without outside supplies, and the allied blockade is calculated to cut the reich off from virtually all sources excepting Russia and the Balkans.

Near End of Hearing In Price Fixing Case

Milwaukee—(P)—Robert S. Hall, examiner for the federal trade commission, expected to complete here today a hearing on a complaint charging the Hardwood Institute of Oshkosh, Wis., its Secretary A. L. Osborn, and 20 hardwood manufacturing companies of northern Wisconsin and upper Michigan with conspiracy to fix prices.

Osborn was to be one of the last witnesses called to testify.

Hall said that a hearing scheduled for Grand Rapids, Mich., had been called off because information sought had been received through stipulations. In addition to the hearing here, now in its fourth day, others previously were held at Chicago, Rockford, Ill., and Marshfield and Oshkosh, Wis.

The complaint charges the re-

Government Will Ask Reduction in Corn Production

7 to 15 Per Cent Cut in Planting Operations Is Considered

Washington—(P)—Federal farm officials expect to announce within the next two weeks a 1940 corn production control program outlining a reduction of between 7 and 15 per cent in planting operations in the midwestern commercial corn belt.

The exact reduction will be determined after the crop reporting board makes its final estimate on this year's crop on Nov. 10.

Bountiful crops of the last three years have resulted in accumulation of a large corn surplus, thereby making it necessary, AAA officials said, to invoke planting control provisions of the farm law.

The planting goal for the commercial corn belt this year totaled 41,239,659 acres. In this area were 586 major corn-producing counties in Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Ohio, South Dakota, Wisconsin, Kansas and Kentucky.

This same general area will have a 1940 allotment, officials said, of between 35,000,000 and 38,500,000 acres. This allotment will be apportioned among farmers in accordance with a formula in the farm act. Farmers who plant within their allotments will be eligible for benefit payments, rates of which have not yet been determined, and for government loans on their excess grain. Benefit rates this year amounted to 15 cents a bushel.

Officials said that the 1940 rates probably would be larger. The greater the cut in the planting program, the larger the benefit rates will be.

The planting goal announcement may be accompanied, officials said, by a new loan program under which cooperating corn farmers could store their grain for future release on the market or for future feeding operations.

The loan rate is expected to be between 51 and 61 cents a bushel. The rate on last year's crop was 57 cents.

Some Republicans Will Vote 'No' but Hope Bill Passes

BY W. E. RAGSDALE

Washington—(P)—A few Republican house members have been in a situation this week somewhat similar to that in which some southern Democrats used to find themselves before a tariff vote.

More than one southerner used to talk the ways and means committee into increasing the duties on foreign products that competed with those of his home district. Then he would vote against the bill on the floor, certain in his own mind that the Republicans had the votes to pass the measure through.

Similarly, some members approached the vote on repealing the arms embargo, ready to shout "No" when their names were called, but hopeful that the repeal would go through.

They will be no more comfortable this weekend when they vote on sine die adjournment of the extra session. Republican leaders want to hold congress in session straight through until the 1940 regular session convenes in January. President Roosevelt favors adjournment as soon as the neutrality bill is enacted.

Representative Martin, of Massachusetts, the Republican house leader, gives three arguments why he thinks congress should stay here. They are:

1. Repeal of the arms embargo

Life Begins at 71 For Cabinet Maker Who Learns to Draw

New York—(P)—Life begins at 71 for Israel Litwak, who took up art because he "didn't want to sit around and wait to die" after losing his job as cabinet maker.

Tomorrow the Brooklyn museum opens an exhibit of 36 crayon drawings by its "new discovery," who is blind in his right eye and who never took a painting or drawing lesson.

Bewildered by the recognition that has come so late in life, Litwak explained today, "It happens like this. When I fall out of work because I'm too old already, I want something to keep me busy. I'm used to being active, not just to sit and wait for the last day to come and die. So I start to make drawings."

Litwak was born in Odessa, Russia. He came to the United States in 1903 with his wife and two children to work as a cabinet maker.

He began drawing, crudely at first, because no one had ever told him how to go about it. Slowly, his sketching became better. Then he completed two and worked up the courage to take them to the museum. The museum officials were impressed, and they encouraged him to go ahead with his work.

Litwak draws from memory, not from life.

Heil in No Hurry To Call Election

Congressional Vacancy Continues Despite Pleas of Voters

Madison—(P)—Governor Heil said today that he had "nothing to say at this time" concerning demands for a special election in the third congressional district to fill the post left vacant by the death of the late Congressman Harry W. Griswold (R) West Salem, last July.

The governor's statement was made in reply to a petition sent by the Kickapoo Valley Flood Control association as well as others from LaCrosse, Baraboo, Platteville, Tomah, Mineral Point, Richland Center, Sauk City, Dodgeville and a half dozen other smaller communities where interested groups are attempting to obtain an election before congress meets next January.

One of the petitions came from the tri-party Republican club which claims 1,200 members in Sheboygan, Manitowish, and Calumet counties.

It was believed generally during the closing days of the legislative session that assembly speaker Vernon Thomson (Rep.) Richard Center, and state senator Edward J. Roethe (Rep.) Fennimore would make the race, but neither has announced his candidacy.

It also was expected Governor Heil would call the election immediately after the close of the legislature so that the legislators would be free to enter the campaign. Numerous progressive leaders have said they would welcome the election as a test of Heil strength.

A special election, it has been estimated, would cost about $30,000. A special election, it has been estimated, would cost about $30,000.

Petitions asking installation of storm sewers in the Erb park area were referred to the street and bridge committee for consideration.

Requests from the Wisconsin Avenue Business and Professional association for a policeman to discharge traffic service at designated times and for snow removal service in the district were referred to the traffic committee and street and bridge committee respectively.

The recreation committee, headed by Alderman Brautigam, was appointed to study supervised recreation and a board of education committee.

Mack Sees Need Of Extra Session To Pass New Taxes

Says Property Owners Will Suffer if Legislature Doesn't Meet

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison — Senator Mike Mack (R), Shiocton, said here Wednesday that he did not see how a special session of the legislature can be avoided unless the Heil administration is prepared to saddle the property taxpayer with heavier burdens. The Outagamie and Shawano county representative, who is also the veteran chairman of the Outagamie county board, expressed a belief that if Governor Heil tries to avoid enactment of new tax legislation through a special session he will be forced to countenance defaults of aids due the local units of government during the remaining 18 months of the biennium. In that event, he warned, cities and counties will be forced to make up the loss through the only revenue source open to them, the general property tax. Such a course, he added, he would vigorously oppose. Mack is regarded as one of the most influential members of the state senate, and during the last session strove repeatedly to increase state financial aid to localities.

Legislation Still Necessary
He recalled that Governor Heil tried often and strenuously to persuade the regular session of the legislature to pass new tax laws to balance the state budget. If tax legislation was necessary a month ago, he maintained, it is necessary still, for the state's financial condition hasn't changed. Mack corroborated reports that Heil is loath to summon the legislature back to Madison.

Discussing the probability that the $5,700,000 payment to localities of highway privilege taxes will be postponed, Mack said that it would seriously embarrass many localities. Many cities, he explained, arrange their budgets in anticipation of receiving such aids during the last part of the year to carry them over until new taxes come in the following spring. Meanwhile William J. Gantner of Kaukauna, Republican assemblyman from the second Outagamie county district, said that he had advised Heil against a special session. Gantner maintained that the governor should wait to determine the probable receipts of present taxes before deciding that it is necessary to provide more. The Kaukauna representative remained in Madison after the session, he said today, to receive treatment for an injured shoulder, the result of a fall at the University of Wisconsin stadium during a football game Sept. 30.

GOOD NEWS-RHEUMATICS!

A PERSONAL MESSAGE for Every Man and Woman who is distressed with Rheumatic, Neuritic or Neuralgic Pain Attacks, or who has friends who are, this information may be of VITAL IMPORTANCE!

Dear Friend:

Here is good news that may mean happiness for you if you suffer from Rheumatic, Neuritic or Neuralgic Pain Attacks.

You know what it means to your work—to your family—and to your own enjoyment and happiness, to find relief from these pain attacks. That is why we are happy to bring you this Good News about RUX Compound.

Flocks of people come into our store every week, and ask us to take time off to tell them about RUX, that they have heard so much about. We are glad to do this, and it is with the thought of passing information on to you who have not yet come to our store for this fine medicine, that we are presenting this message.

Thousands of people over the country are users of RUX and with heartfelt gratitude at their marvelous relief, they pass their experience on to others. One recent letter from Mr. Harry Chivington, 220 North Oneida St., Appleton, Wisconsin, who knows how important it is to try RUX, states:

"I had an attack of Rheumatic Pains which struck me in my leg and I want to say it sure felt just like a sharp knife had been thrust in the flesh. It made work and walking hard on me, and at night the pain was so bad I could hardly sleep.

"I learned about RUX Compound as being recommended for relief of Rheumatic Pains and as I was sorely in need of relief I started using it. I was agreeably surprised after a while to see how RUX had taken hold of my pains and as I continued the medicine these distressing pain attacks have become less and less, until now they are hardly bothering me at all. I feel so much better and can rest well at night. I feel that RUX has been a wonderful blessing to me and I will be glad to tell others about it."

This is but one of the many, many letters received by the makers of RUX, praising this remarkable medicine, and although this sufferer's experience may not be in the least like yours, we want you to know that his praise for RUX is sincere and given freely so that you and other people will hear about RUX and be able to try it for yourself!

When relief from Rheumatic, Neuritic or Neuralgic Pain may mean so much to your happiness, and even your success in life, surely you owe it to yourself to at least learn more about this remarkable medicine, RUX—three economical sizes, $1, $1.50 and $3 at all good drug stores. We are daily meeting people in our store and showing them The RUX and telling them how its valuable ingredients act. When you decide to try RUX—today or tomorrow, if possible—come to our store and we will be glad to tell you about this fine medicine which is bringing relief and comfort to so many other sufferers.

District Attorney Can Hold 2 Posts

Rules Chilton County Official Can Serve as Divorce Counsel

Madison — Donald E. Bonk, Chilton, district attorney of Calumet county, may be appointed divorce counsel for the county, he was informed today in an opinion by Attorney General John E. Martin.

Bonk told the attorney general that Circuit Judge Henry P. Hughes of the district had offered to give him the appointment, but that there was an uncertainty about the compatibility of the two offices.

The position of divorce counsel is vacant because of the recent death of the incumbent, it was explained.

Martin declared that he could find nothing in the law to indicate that possession of the two offices is incompatible.

The legislature has decreed that there is no inherent conflict in the two positions, and has also provided that the holder of them may draw his regular salary of county prosecutor in addition to the fees allowed by law to the divorce counsel," Martin explained. However, the county board has no authority to compel the district attorney to do the work of the divorce counsel.

Says he enjoys the hours spent in the gymnasium about as much as any at high school. . . He peddles a bike during his newspaper delivering. . . Seldom has to get off because he missed hitting a porch or steps. . . Says rain makes it tough for the carrier, because he must put papers in sheltered place. . . "Two offices are incompatible if there is a conflict of interests or duties, so that the incumbent of one cannot discharge with fidelity and propriety the duties of both," Bonk was advised.

Complete Frame Straightening

A chassis misalignment is hard to detect by a car owner, but it has its effect on the riding qualities of the car, and it takes its toll in increased operating expense and wear on the motor and transmission units.

A severe strain placed upon your car, even at a moderate high speed, will cause chassis misalignment.

CZAR JAWN CHASES THE NAVY

One of the good purposes of a congress in session and a vigorous opposition party in action was displayed when Representative Hoffman of Michigan requested the navy to make definite answer concerning the effect of CIO strikes upon our national defense program.

Promptly, Acting Secretary Edison replied. A Detroit strike was hampering the naval defense program. But that was of little importance concerning the white feather the navy was compelled to show when Overlord Jawn Lewis went into action.

Of course, the navy had nothing to do with the strike. The company involved was filling orders for the navy and for that purpose had its patterns, and had completed some castings which the navy was ready to use. Concerned because the length of the strike was unknown the navy tried to get its patterns, its property, from the company involved in the strike. But hear Mr. Edison explain the situation in his own language:

"The regional director of the CIO then sent three representatives of Union Local 208 to discuss the removal of the patterns with the inspector of navy material. The union representatives were given full access to the files of the navy contracts. At the end of the discussion the union representatives stated that as the strike situation stood their answer was emphatically 'No' and that they would not let patterns or inspected castings be removed. No further action was taken by the Navy Department to remove the patterns and castings."

The matter is not of a great deal of importance but the principle is as important as any other relating to the sovereignty of our government.

The All-Highest Jawn L. Lewis is still receiving payment for the moneys contributed to the Democratic campaign chest. He has already scattered the forces of the Post Office Department, the Department of Justice and now the navy. His will is supreme. It transcends the written law. It draws the fires from our cruisers and before it slinks the members of the President's cabinet, paralyzed of voice, muscle and brain.

We repeat, the particular instance was of little consequence. But the prestige given Mr. Lewis at the expense of the national government is of immense consequence. It will help him hold his legions together and pump further millions from them that he may contribute to the purchase of another presidency so that he may continue to sit upon his throne, a throne several cubits higher than the presidential seat.

HEIL'S NEW WELFARE DEPARTMENT

It is gratifying to note that the new state board of welfare has had the courage to disregard the politicians who would have distributed the payroll under its jurisdiction among themselves and to select for the crucial division jobs in the new state agency persons who possess the proper technical qualifications rather than the currently desirable political connections.

The selections ought to bring forth a bouquet for Governor Heil who was accused of plans to give the positions to political friends.

It is one of the few redeeming attributes of the Heil administration's reorganization program that the governor had the common sense to choose members of an advisory board in the extensive field of public welfare who bring to their jobs the practical and sensible point of view of the ordinary man and woman. That the board chose qualified, trained, and experienced executives to administer the day to day functions of the divisions under its guidance is a tribute to its intelligence.

Appointing Dr. G. E. Seaman of the Winnebago state hospital, with extensive training in nervous and mental diseases, as director of the Division of Mental Hygiene; selecting Miss Elizabeth Yerxa, for 15 years director of the juvenile department of the Board of Control, as director of child welfare; and bringing in Dr. Morris G. Caldwell as director of the division of corrections, all indicates a purpose to obtain talent and not to obtain political connections or influence.

This is an auspicious beginning for the new board of public welfare. If it pursues this course it will support the conclusion that the Republicans were justified in claiming that reorganization in that particular field would produce greater efficiency and economy.

MR. BEAL'S TESTIMONIAL

Fred Beal is the man who preferred a 20 year term in prison in North Carolina to freedom and prominence in Russia.

His opinion is that of only one man and may not suit the multitude but when a man voluntarily gives up his freedom for a long period of years because he is convinced of a certain thing we are bound to agree that his conviction is at least sincere.

Mr. Beal, like some other Americans who only looked a few inches beyond their nose, thought that unfavorable conditions in this country could be wiped out by following the Communist formula. But after living in Russia a while he testified:

"I found just the conditions there against which I was fighting over here. The union officials ate well, but the workers were hungry and they were in rags. I never saw the equal of that misery in this country."

However mistaken in his quick trigger actions Mr. Beal may have been, he had associated himself in this country with an effort to improve conditions in its sorest spots. He was another John Brown. When he saw poverty here, or what he called poverty, it made his blood throb through his temples faster. He discovered, however, that what he thought was misery here might be accepted as happiness among the Soviets in their ugly wretchedness.

Mr. Beal serves to prove an idea the Post-Crescent has often advanced and with nothing but the best of wishes to our own American born radicals. Just let them take a trip to any Utopia they wish to choose but make them stay there a full year. Speeding through a country on a train or conducted by a travel bureau only secures a whiff of the stew but living there month after month provides ample time to make suitable conclusions. The money spent on such excursions would be put to better purpose by our government than many of its wasted billions are today. And the returning travelers would probably be as deep in their heartfelt opinions as that Jew who landed in New York after escaping a German concentration camp and dropped on his knees to kiss the land of liberty for which his being had ached so long.

RUSSIAN "NEUTRALITY" AND OURS

Reports are that our Secretary of State was considerably angered at the run-around the Russian government has been giving our government concerning the City of Flint.

In fact the resentment was not limited to our State Department but became evident all over the country. Russia was tricky. Russia was unreliable. Russia wasn't telling the truth. Russia was preventing our ambassador at Moscow from getting the facts.

But before we get too irate over this affair it might be advisable to turn back and look at our own record in relation to the Bremen. We attempted to give Germany the doublecross in the same manner, with the same morals, and invoking the same standard of honor that Russia has pursued toward the City of Flint.

Russia construes neutrality to mean abstinence from participation in war. This is because she hasn't the nerve to go to war. Stalin fears two armies, Hitler's and his own.

Insofar as the chief executive of our country is concerned there has been little choice between his sort of neutrality and that that comes from Moscow. And neither is neutrality.

HOAN AND RELIEF BONDS

When Mayor Hoan of Milwaukee isn't talking with a copy of Marx under his arm he often has something valuable to say.

His recent stand against issuing bonds to pay Milwaukee's share of the relief burden and his insistence on the "pay as you go" basis are ideas that belong in every rugged governmental structure and should supplant the softie, defeatist retreat to be found along the avenue of borrowing pursued by too many public officials of our time.

The national administration in selecting its policies toward relief might just as well have put a blindfold on the nation. When we have a great problem such as unemployment, and its offshoot, relief, the best way to solve it is to keep it right out in the middle of the room with all its genuineness and all its trickery.

There never was a time except for a famine that attends the destruction of crops when this country could not pay out of its pocket the necessary demands to feed, warm and clothe its people.

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

BAD LUCK

A little stretch of ugly road
Confronts us with our trailer load.

With care and patience we attack
The difficulty. Forward, back.

We move and finally we gain
The sunlit highway through the plain.

Our trouble back of us, advancing
Smoothly and clearly, our hearts dancing.

Our perseverance and our pluck
In a hard place has brought us luck!

The troubles that appear to goad
Us as we travel Life's hard road.

Are something like this rocky way
That you and I traverse today.

Bringing us added happiness
When finally our cares grow less!

DALE HARRISON'S
In Old New York

New York—City Sees:

The newsdealer stands at 53rd Street and Fifth Avenue. It is shortly after one o'clock in the afternoon. That rather than noon, is midday in New York. The Avenue swarms with office and shop workers lunching, and with fine ladies and gentlemen moving in and out of the exclusive shops. Limousines slide softly, pompously up to the curbs. Richly furred ladies, most of them elderly, step carefully from the limousines, speak instructions to their chauffeurs, and cross the sidewalk to enter a store.

The newsdealer stands by his papers. Occasionally someone darts from the traffic stream, tosses down some pennies, snatches a paper and runs down the stairway into the earth-to-the-subway.

A youngster bobs from nowhere and walks energetically up to the newsdealer. He says "Hello." He slides a paper off the top of one of the piles. He glances at the headlines. "Nazis Claim Victory in Fierce Battle," he reads aloud. The newsdealer nods. The boy reads on—Nazis, submarines, the Congress, a murder, a divorce. He reads expertly. The newsdealer listens intently, not even deflecting his attention when someone interrupts to buy a paper.

Finally the boy finishes. He puts the paper back. He says "So long," and goes away. It is like that each afternoon—the lad reading, the man listening. It is so that the newsdealer acquaints himself with the merchandise he sells—the news; for he is blind.

Scene Two?

Just a few steps down the street from Scene One. The entrance to the Stork Club, named for a bird which never has seen it. But birds know the place, not at night when it is gay but in early afternoon. They are pigeons. They flock there by hundreds. Along the facade above the entrance to the Club named for a Bird, they stand close together—so close that often one of them is shoved off and flies down to the street. Many more birds walk nervously up and down, pacing like an expectant father outside a maternity ward—pacing the sidewalk in front of a swank Club named for a Bird.

A man comes out. He carries an abundance of food. The winged gluttons go after their meal ravenously. I often wonder if they know that later each night men and women, richly and fashionably dressed, will stand before that same door of a Club named for a Bird, and that a man will say to them: "We are sorry, there is no room for you inside"—And even if the pigeons know it, they surely cannot experience the paradox of no room for the pleasure-seeking men and women—but a full and abundant meal for the pigeons who regularly and instinctively come to be fed at the fashionable Club named after a Bird.

Scene Three:

The entrance to the Bar of the Hotel Chatham on East 48th Street, and again it is afternoon, but with the first hint of dusk written in the patch of sky that can be seen when one looks down the narrow street toward Broadway and the Hudson. Again the actors are Pigeons and People. A man emerges from the Bar and tosses food crumbs on the sidewalk. The birds swarm about, and the sidewalk is a bobbing carpet of pigeons—birds whose gluttony makes them oblivious to the fact that they, the beggar-birds, have taken over the sidewalk from pedestrians.

The cocktail hour customers begin to arrive. The entrance to the Bar is blocked by a bird banquet—blocked except for a narrow passage. These are smart, comfortable, slightly smug men; men who in their businesses might have no compunction about fighting their way through any path. Yet every day, when the first hint of dusk rises in the western sky, you may see them picking their way carefully and deviously around a door mat of doves.

Scene Four:

Forty-second Street, in the block between Fifth and Sixth Avenues, across from the Library, Salvation Army. At the small organ sits a Lass. Her fingers move in simple harmonies over the keys. Her eyes sparkle with her sure Faith in God. From her throat flows song. Jesus, Lover of My Soul. Praise God from Whom All Blessings Flow.

A knot of listeners form. On the organ rests a tambourine, inviting contributions. It is empty. The woman plays on. Jesus Will Welcome You Home. Praise God...

A young man, spectacled, pauses, fumbles in his pocket, finds a bill, moves unobtrusively through the small group, drops the bill in the tambourine, and passes on.

The organ wheezes on, the lady sings. No one had recognized Benny Goodman.

Looking Backward

Opinions of Others

FREE LIST SUSPENDED

Driving a patrolman to a police station, so that he might be arrested, and charging his fare for the ride, was the novel idea of Irving Berman, a taxicab driver, accused of ignoring a traffic signal on Fifth Avenue. Berman declined to accept a summons, but volunteered to drive Patrolman Doyle to West Forty-seventh street, where he might be arrested and booked. As the cab turned westward, the driver dropped the flag and the meter went to work. "What's the idea?" Doyle demanded. "You'll find out," replied the uncommunicative Berman. At the police station he demanded 50 cents, which the patrolman paid, in exchange for a receipt. Both then went to Traffic Court, but not in the taxicab. There the driver was fined $3, and Doyle appealed in vain for recovery of his 50 cents. "I know nothing about any 50 cents," said the magistrate. "It does not enter into the matter, as far as this court is concerned."

The ride from Fifth Avenue to the police station was pleasant enough as far as it went. But not nearly so agreeable as a tour in a regular car, sailing through traffic, at no personal cost for gas, oil or tires. And some way can be devised by which the patrolman's involuntary outlay for transportation can be made good from a contingent fund, or must be charged up to experience.—New York Herald Tribune.

A Bystander
In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington—To the hazards of life in Washington should be added race horse touts and the March of Time.

We will take them up in that order, although that may or may not be the way we feel about them.

Washington has no horse tracks of its own, but not far over the line in Maryland are such spots as Laurel and Havre de Grace where the horses run and the touts ply their trade with skillful additions to their tricks which should be reported.

At Laurel a tout rushes up to whisper something in the ear of Postmaster General Farley but is casually brushed aside and doesn't press his point. On to the next victim he wings his way, and the name of the victim we will hold because he blushes easily.

"Put a piece on Blue Nose," says he, although Blue Nose is not the name of the horse, whose true name we will also withhold because the horse also blushes easily. Our victim is not eager to put a piece on Blue Nose because he thinks he knows the way of touts. But this one has tricks.

The Clincher

"I just come from the stables, see," he says, "and I was out with a couple of jockeys last night. This one is all locked up. I am no bum, fella," he adds, and to prove his point he spreads a roll of bills with a tender on top.

Nevertheless, our hesitant victim is on the point of turning away when out of a machine an automobile speaks a wiry fellow who says in a half tone that could be heard 40 feet:

"You better get back to the stables, Buzzy, you're in trouble about them bandages."

That touch of local color is enough to sack our victim and he passes $4 through the window hesitantly. Blue Nose does not win. That makes no difference to the tout, of course, who probably has pulled this fancy trick to tip off a sucker on every horse in the race. So no matter which comes in he has a claim for a kick-in.

Another Thing—

But horses don't trouble us much, and not nearly so early in the morning as the March of Time.

At 7:15 a. m. our telephone cut loose the other morning and sent us galloping downstairs in our pajamas.

"This is Western Union," says a sweet voice, sweet even at 7:15 a. m. "We have a rather long telegram for you."

We have no cows to milk so we are not always up at 7:15 a. m. and when Western Union calls at that hour either a distant relative has left us some money or the office wants us down right away, there is trouble.

"Read the telegram," we tremble at Western Union.

A Few Are Chosen

"The American farmer was the bulwark of the Allied armies during the World War," purrs the girl at 7:15 a. m. "Yes, yes," we agree, "go on."

"Now again in 1939 (we are quoting ad lib as we remember it, so the words may differ but the idea is there) the American farmer may be called upon to feed a world at war. The March of Time has prepared a film release on the American farmer—down and out of sleep were rightfully ours before we needed to consider the American farmer feeding the world."

But it develops, via the sweet voice, that the March of Time is giving a preview of its new release to a few selected souls in the Department of Agriculture auditorium. At 7:15 a. m. We have been selected as one of those to see and hear it. And because we are a diligent soul, even at 7:15 a. m. while shy 15 minutes of rightful sleep, we take down a telephone number where we are to call for a formal invitation. And we went.

Just a Step
Behind the News

By Dave Boone

Before fellows like Molotoff start explaining everything to an audience, they ought to ask it to stand. His head so it can follow them better.

I thought the nazi boys were tops in twisting and distorting the picture, but when it comes to putting a pretzel-twist into a hard fact, this Russian premier outclasses the field. If you reason things out the way he does, then Little Eva, Billy Patterson, Humphy Dumpty, Little Red Riding Hood, Judge Crater and all of Bluebeard's wives were out-and-out aggressors.

If you are knocked down by a truck, Molotoff will explain that you were guilty of an unfriendly act, and if you keep your word about coming to the aid of a friend in need, you are a disturber of peace and the cause of all the trouble.

The big laugh in Molotoff's speech was his demand that Uncle Sam show his good faith by freeing Cuba. He evidently thinks Wheeler, Hobson and the Rough Riders are still there and that Admiral Dewey is still in Manila bay.

But I think there's a way we can convince him that we have a right to say a good word for honorable and clean little states like Finland. All we have to do is to notify him that, if he insists, we will come down from San Juan hill at once, as evidence of good faith.

IT'S A LOT OF TROUBLE

Thomasville, N. C.—The state employment service needed an engineer. An unemployed worker applied. He was asked to get two references. He wrote for them. Each recipient not only gave him a reference, but offered him a better job. He accepted one.

TACKLING THE DUMMY

Under the
CAPITOL DOME

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison—By its traditions and deeds, the Republican party is opposed to legislation which interferes with the normal functioning of the competitive process in business and trade.

It is something of an incongruity, therefore, that the Republican administration should be responsible for the reenactment of two statutes of that nature, the code law for the service industries, and the fluid milk price control statute.

But it will be revealed when the laws begin to operate that the Republican legislators may in the end be the victors.

During the months of teeter-tottering on the two controversial issues, such floorleaders as Coker, Catlin, Peterson and others of the Republican bloc in both houses recognized that they could not prevent passage of some kind of code and milk price legislation. So they chose the only possible alternative: by a series of amendments they so complicated the terms of both acts that it is now highly conjectural whether they will work at all. Although the milk price control act may be effective in some of the larger counties, it is held that there are important doubts as to its constitutionality. Unraveling the code law is something which administration men have not even attempted thus far.

FREY'S STANDING

Some of Governor Heil's actions and policies cause wonderment among outsiders and politicians who watch his affairs with interest. There is for example the fact that August Frey, his purchasing department chief and director of the research bureau, continues to be his most influential advisor, and his patronage counselor, in spite of the fact that Frey is generally conceded to be the least popular of his secretaries.

While Maas, Barlow and McKeown get along fairly well with party men and with legislators particularly, Frey gets along with neither. In fact several Republican legislators several months ago were circulating the story that Frey was to leave the executive office, a story which now seems to have little credibility.

PENSION PARTY

One of the diverting aspects of the fall political scene in Wisconsin is the formation of the new "liberal" Republican party in the hands of Peter Zisch, Milwaukee's champion of the dues-paying old-age pension advocates, and the eager respect which certain state politicians are giving it.

Mr. Zisch is the splendid example of the new type politician, the man who plays politics with a pressure group, a pressure group which sees only one problem in politics and government, its own narrow self-interest. Controlling his pension league, lock, stock and barrel, Zisch went to the 1939 legislature with a chip on his shoulder and was roundly snubbed except by a few men who felt they owed their narrow squawks in the 1938 election to the organized old folks' vote.

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

NO COFFEE FOR KIDS

A few days after publication in this column of "Query From A Sourpuss," in which I, a teetotaler for many reasons, said that many elderly folk, not all, should have a daily ration of wine or other mild alcoholic beverage, to keep them from becoming sourpusses and being too hard for ordinary folk to live with, came the following letter from a veteran reader who, if I recollect, has sent me verses from time to time in praise of my teachings:

Dear Doctor Brady:
A bit of a shock to your old friend to have a doctor of your great influence not only advocate... Here I fairly cringed in fearful anticipation, but happily for me my old friend had not yet lapped the sourpuss article—but, boy, when she does will some one please take me by the hand and tell me a story all about bears and Indians so I can forget everything else for the nonce?

...not only advocate coffee as a beverage but give a recipe for making it.

...but to encourage the coffee habit, anathema to noted health authorities, such as Dr. Kellogg, Dr. Jackson of Canada, and many others who declare emphatically...

Yes, I know some doctors can be pretty emphatic when they express their views and have no convincing practical evidence to support them. Remember how emphatic a lot of them were twenty years ago about removing tonsils and teeth? They're remarkably quiet about that now.

...I can imagine youngsters (my own grandchildren among them) healthy and thriving on milk—food for babes and grown-ups—saying, "Mom, I'm old enough to drink coffee—Dr. Brady says it is all right for children and won't hurt anybody..."

And from that imaginary scene it is but an easy step to the inference that Ol' Doc Brady approves of feeding infants on tea, coffee, beer, wine, cocoa, whisky or almost anything you have around the house.

In my judgement coffee should not be given to children under sixteen years of age. Various invalids had better seek advice from their physicians in regard to drinking coffee. For ordinary folk two or three cups of coffee daily, taken as a beverage, not to wash down un-masticated food, is generally rather beneficial. Of course a cupful of good coffee contains a fair medicinal dose of caffeine (perhaps 12 to 20 grains), and caffeine is a stimulant to heart, brain, kidneys. Coffee taken late at night may keep you awake. But coffee after dinner in the evening cannot explain wakefulness more than four hours later.

I disagree cordially with any and all doctors or health authorities who teach that coffee is harmful to every one.

I regard coffee as a beneficial beverage for the great majority of ordinary people.

Chagrined, he returned to Milwaukee after the session to ridicule the administration and to corral his followers into a new party. Zisch will continue to blast away during the next year or two, but were it not for the fact that he early was shrewd enough to cultivate a friendship with a Milwaukee newspaperman—which reporter gave him more publicity than his colleagues felt was warranted—he would probably not be engaged in the ambitious task of building a new political party.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Left-Handed

Son, 11, partially left-handed. Uses right hand for nearly everything except writing. Had I better insist on him using it for writing too? (Mrs. T. A. H.)

Answer—If he were my son I should not interfere. Rather encourage him, by friendly contests in drawing circles, straight lines, etc., to use either hand—that is, compare his left-hand skill with your own, his right-hand skill with your own, etc.

Car Sickness

For car sickness we found the calcium carbonate you suggest for acid stomach ideal. It has overcome the trouble in our granddaughter and her mother, too. Thank you for many helps we have had from your excellent column and your booklets. (H. W. W.)

Answer—Thank you. Perhaps our readers will put the remedy to the test and be good enough to let us know whether it is effective—take ten grains of calcium carbonate whenever you are likely to have car sickness. Same remedy, commonly called prepared chalk, is preferable to soda and other alkalis for relief of stomach acidity, heartburn, associated distress from "gas"—ten grains best taken crushed in powder, will relieve acidity or sour stomach for hours—harmless to take ten grains three times a day. Send ten cents coin and stamped envelope bearing your address, for booklet "So You Have Indigestion!"

Three Guesses

Receiving treatment from local physician for condition diagnosed as "peristitis" (phonetic spelling). Please advise whether this can be cured and whether it would disable sufferer from working if not checked. (L. S. C.)

Answer—If you mean buritis, yes, that might disable for a time. Depends on the bursa affected. There are many such sacs or pads in the body. Inflammation of a bursa about the shoulder joint may disable a worker for a long time if it is not diagnosed and treated properly. Often it is necessary to anesthetize patient and manipulate the shoulder in order to prevent permanent stiffness from adhesions, after the inflammation or buritis has passed. Daily diathermy treatment gives great relief in the first week or two, the most painful stage of buritis.

Iodin Versus Cornplency

My sister writes that several of her friends have been using your iodine ration and that they all say it keeps you from getting too stout. I'd like to try it. But I notice you said one, two or three drops of ordinary brown tincture of iodine in a drink of water every day. I do wish you would make up your mind about it and let us know exactly how. (Mrs. R. H.)

Answer—I've been trying to do for twenty years. I'll let you know as soon as I do. Meanwhile I take whatever comes out of the vial or off the dropper—one, two or three drops in a good drink of water, two or three days each week. Making up your mind to do something and doing it are two different things. If the "poison" label on the tincture of iodine bottle frightens you, at least use iodized salt instead of ordinary salt in your home for cooking and table.

Roosevelt Wasn't Trying to Meddle In Peace Attempt

Offering Good Offices in Line With Precedents—Lawrence

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—Memories are short these days overseas, or else it may be that foreign Commissar Molotov has not had time to familiarize himself with the job held by his predecessor, M. Litvinoff. Anyhow, what the White House has made public to show that the head of the Russian government, President Kalinin, cabled to President Roosevelt last April his hearty approval of American intervention of its influence for peace in Europe is not all of the record.

Excerpts from Soviet newspapers, inspired by the Moscow government, reveal that the entire Russian press was enthusiastic in its approval of President Roosevelt's efforts to preserve the independence and territorial integrity of Finland, Lithuania, Latvia and the Baltic states. Hence, it has astonished American officials to read the text of M. Molotov's remarks this week, in which he is repeating President Roosevelt for "meddling" when he sent a message merely expressing the hope that the peaceful relations between Russia and Finland would be preserved.

"Le Journal de Moscow" for April 25 last devoted its leading editorial to the reaction of the axis powers to the message of President Roosevelt. After stating that Mr. Roosevelt's message had already resulted in clarifying the international situation, the editorial said that the communication of the German government inquiring of several states whether they considered themselves menaced by Germany constituted in itself "a new menace on the part of Germany," while the reply of certain countries, "notably Lithuania, Belgium and Switzerland," indicated they did consider themselves menaced.

"Aggressive Plans" The German communication, said the editorial, "proves the opportuneness of the intervention of the president and exposes once more the aggressive plans of the axis directed against Poland which concern not only the question of Danzig, but also German plans considerably more vast than Poland."

Even before the German communication was sent and while the world was reading only President Roosevelt's message to Herr Hitler asking him to declare his intentions toward 31 independent states of Europe and Asia, the same Russian newspaper on April 18 commended at once President Roosevelt's action, declaring he spoke with his "usual frankness and clarity" and commending him for requesting precise assurances from the aggressor countries "not only for the present but for the future as well."

The editorial, which, of course, could not have been published without the approval of the Soviet government itself, went on to say that, since the Soviet Union has always stood for the preservation of peace and for the adoption of a clear and definite position in international affairs, "it is quite natural that the president of the supreme soviet should have immediately welcomed President Roosevelt's message."

Russia's Intentions? In the light of just about seven months' lapse in time, what can Russia say concerning her foreign minister's criticism now of President Roosevelt? Clearly, if Mr. Roosevelt was right in asking Herr Hitler to give assurances that he would not attack any smaller states on the border of Germany, it is not illogical for Mr. Roosevelt to address now an even more pointed communication to the soviet government concerning its intentions with

Beneath Neutrality Calm Democratic Party Is Split

Washington—Surface calm inside the Democratic party is deceptive and actually does not go any deeper than neutrality legislation. Underneath, the party is split as before. On one side you have a group of New Dealers anxious to to renominate Mr. Roosevelt, moved no doubt partly by devotion to him and partly by the fact that he is their meal-ticket. When he goes out they go out. The most aggressive organization work of this group, in Washington state and in California, has been conducted by young left-wing Democrats on the Pacific coast. Leadership of this largely has been in the hands of Norman H. Littell, an assistant attorney general, aided by Marshall E. Dimock, second assistant secretary of labor, John Boettiger, Seattle publisher, and his wife, Mrs. Anna Roosevelt Boettiger, daughter of the president, have been active in this movement and are understood to have helped Mr. Littell to land his place in the department of justice.

The explosive letter of John L. Lewis, refusing to have anything to do with the 11-state western conference arranged for January by this group, has probably damaged its usefulness as a means of launching a grassroots third-term movement. At least the party regulars think so, and for that they are grateful, for the first time in years to John L. Lewis. On the other side, you have the regular politicians of the party dead set against a third term and prepared, if necessary, to repeat the fight which they made against the senatorial purge a year ago. Vice President Garner is now considered to be a real candidate and he may have one of the largest blocs of delegates at the convention, some standing for him outright and others hiding temporarily behind favorite sons. Another considerable bloc of delegates will be influenced by Chairman James A. Farley and still others will be supporting Secretary of State Hull. It is possible that these three figures, with their allies, will among them account for close to a majority of the delegates, although President Garner may be counted as one of the leaders in that. And probably Chairman Farley.

President Roosevelt's intentions remain an unknown factor. Some feel it likely that he will make his position clear soon after the new year opens. These believe he will decline to stand for renomination, although with them the wish may father the thought. It is difficult to believe that the president would attempt to run again, realizing as he must how bitterly divided his party is on that point.

His difficulty is this: He wants a liberal candidate and a liberal platform. He can obtain the liberal platform quite easily. To get a liberal candidate will be more difficult. Much depends upon who can pass with the president as a liberal. He has a limited choice. Supreme Court Justice W. O. Douglas would satisfy some of the New Dealers but mention of him brings only an indifferent smile from regular party leaders. They can't see his delegates. Paul McNutt, the best bet to bridge the party gap, is never likely to be acceptable to Chairman Farley. Apparently that is final. Who else? Senator Wheeler? He has a long way to go. Secretary Wallace? His pulling power isn't rated high enough at the White House. There are not many to whom Mr. Roosevelt can turn.

Already the forces against a third term are well organized. They are fairly well along in their undertaking to control the next national respect to Finland, or even the Scandinavian states. Mr. Roosevelt's policy in offering good offices and expressing the hope for peace at critical times is in line with the precedents established by other American presidents. The interests of humanity have prompted the governments of the United States under Republican as well as Democratic administrations to use its moral influence to prevent the outbreak of war. Mr. Roosevelt last April merely sought to clarify the picture by getting assurances against aggression. Many persons thought he was "meddling" then, but the record for future history now has been written in indelible letters, not only revealing the emptiness of the promises given in Berlin, but the subsequent readiness of Soviet Russia, also, to pursue policies of coercion and threatened aggression against her neighbors.

The WORLD of STAMPS

Nicaragua's President Anastasio Somoza has responded to the reception he was given in the United States last May by ordering 12 stamps issued in November commemorating his visit.

Six of the 12 promised stamps will be inscribed, "Buenos Vecinos" (Good Neighbors) and will show a drawing of Somoza addressing the U. S. Senate and House May 8 on the amity of the two nations. This drawing will appear on a 4-cent brown and 16c green in an airmail series for domestic use, and on 25c blue, 30c black, 65c brown and 90c blue in an air set for international postage.

Three other stamps picture the U. S. Capitol, with an inset portrait of President Somoza in the upper right corner. These stamps are to be 8c brown and 20c purple in the domestic set and 50c red in the international set.

The three remaining stamps will show Somoza's portrait inset in the middle, with the Tower of the Sun at the San Francisco exposition at left and the New York Fair's Trylon and Perisphere at right. This design will be on 32c red and the domestic set and 60c green and 1-cordoba purple in the international.

By such acts as the issuing of these stamps, Somoza has won the nickname of "El Yanqui" (the Yankee) among Nicaraguans.

Stamp for Gershwin?

Several American musicians who feel that George Gershwin should be included among the American composers to be honored in the forthcoming "Famous American" series, are petitioning Postmaster General Farley for his inclusion.

Portuguese Colonies. A valuable set of eight overprints commemorating the New York's World's Fair has been issued for the Portuguese colonies. Since only 2,000 sets were printed, these are already selling as high as $50 a set.

The overprint consists of the familiar Trylon and Perisphere with the inscription "Exposicao Internacional de Nova York 1939-1940."

The basic stamps are the ones issued last year in the Visit of the President set. In the new set one stamp was issued for each of eight colonies, in a shade of reddish-brown.

Here are the stamps for each colony: Angola, 5As; Guinea, 5E; Cape Verde, 5E; St. Thomas, 5E; India, 4dT; Macao, 50A; Mozambique, 5E; and Timor, 50A.

Pegler Scores California Ham-and-Eggs Plan as Fake

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

Los Angeles, Calif.—The incompetents, failures, half-wits and thieves, the ecclesiastical free-booters and body snatchers who rule the emotions of this city have got something at least in the issue known as ham-and-eggs, which goes to the voters of California on Nov. 7 in the form of an amendment to the state constitution.

This is a proposal to create an absolute dictatorship. It is the most audacious, the most absurd and, at the same time, the most horrifying suggestion ever presented to the voters of any American community since history raneth not to the contrary. Disguised as an old-age pension plan whereby all persons who are rising 50 years and who are, with variations, citizens of California, would receive $30 every Thursday, this incredible fraud is no pension plan at all but an invitation to the voters to elect either of two designated individuals to a position to be known as that of "administrator."

The promoters have had the effrontery to name, in a proposed constitutional amendment, two men, one of whom must be selected by the governor. These two individuals are Roy G. Owens and Will H. Kindig, both of Los Angeles, of whom more will be reported later. It may be said in brief, however, that they are adventurers in emotional politics and neither, by previous achievement, would deserve better than alarm, even though they were running as nominee and alternate for the post of boxing commissioner.

This is the most astonishing proposal ever conceived in this or, for all my knowing on the subject, any other country, not excluding Germany or Russia. After all, Hitler beat his way up and Stalin took over a slaughterhouse which was a going concern. But in California it is proposed that the people deliver the whole life, freedom and property of the state into the hands of either of two individuals who nominated themselves. Huey Long was a pun and modest constitutional statesman by comparison, and let it be understood that is the inconceivable gall of the two nominees and their crowd which has imposed on the confusion and want of southern California to place this amendment on the ballot.

Amendment itself is A 1,500-word Puzzle

The amendment itself runs up a score of about 1,500 words, and would defy the intelligence of all the sages of all the ages, and yet, to the end, presents an apparent but false promise to pay $30 every Thursday to everyone rising 50. It backtracks, contradicts itself and the American constitution and gets lost in such fogs as even the most earnest bankers and economists have been unable to penetrate. But it doesn't fail to provide that either Roy G. Owens or Will H. Kindig of Los Angeles must be named administrator, with power to suppress strikes, forfeit property and money, suspend the debts of favored individuals, discredit the credit of the state and its counties, cities and towns and spend money at will.

This is not the simple screw-ball dream-book proposal which was voted down once before. The $30 every-Thursday lure has been retained only as a lure and is, by agreement even of those who saw some phantom of possibility in the previous plan, a fake. Nevertheless, the C. I. O. element of the labor front has endorsed the fraud, even though the membership and most of the American leaders know it to be a fraud, as an act of gratitude. Ham-and-eggs voted against a reactionary anti-picketing law last time, and the C. I. O. and much of the A. F. of L. element have now given aid and comfort to a plain Nazi, anti-labor movement as a return favor.

C. I. D. Rank and File Probably Against It

The C. I. O. influence was delivered by the Communist leaders dominating the subsidiary C. I. O. units against the will of the rank and file. Many of the rank and file probably will vote against the dictatorship. The Communists with their small but efficient minorities in the C. I. O. locals controlled the sentiment of the majority. The fact that the dictatorship would be union is of no consequence, because chaos, confusion and disaster are their objectives, anyway.

And if ham-and-eggs should win, the Communists of the C. I. O. would expect to move in and help administer the amendment in the expectation of bankruptcy and rioting. They would even be content to let the Nazis run the show, with a little assistance here and there from them, because if ham-and-eggs should win on Nov. 7 California would come under a dictatorship differing only in matters of skill and practice from their own kind. Let it be understood, however, that the Communists of the C. I. O. in California delivered the C. I. O. endorsement to ham-and-eggs.

There will be more along these lines tomorrow.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisons out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with aching and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

ed best for him. But this... but Iris..."

Tim was eying her narrowly. "My dear child, what's the matter? I thought you and Iris had grown to be good friends. Surely you're not going all pale and shocked because of what I've just told you?"

She spoke through still lips. "I am, Tim! And not for the reason you might think either, I mean—crimson suddenly replaced her pallor, clear to the edge of her low-cut frock—"It isn't because I... well, you know I'm fond of you, Tim. I've made no secret of it. But I don't want to marry any man unless—well, unless he's fond of me, too. But this—this is terrible, my dear," she went on more naturally. "Iris is... I can't put it into words. If you don't know by now, I suppose it's no use for any of us, George or all your friends, to try to persuade you that Iris is—she isn't—"

"That's enough," he said sharply. "If you can't congratulate me, Buff, or wish me happiness, at least you can refrain from criticism of my chosen wife."

Coogan Gives Outstanding Performance in Stage Show Presentation of 'What a Life'

BY NELL CHAMBERLAIN
FAST-MOVING comedy with more than its share of clever lines and a cast that was the most part made to order for its various roles kept a fair-sized audience entertained last night at the Rio theater for George Abbott's stage success, "What a Life." Jackie Coogan, the star of the piece who is trying a stage comeback after seeing his once successful career as a child movie star go by the board with the approach of adolescence, gave a performance that probably surprised most of the people who have seen him recently in inconsequential roles in second rate musical pictures.

Children Need Nourishing Foods in Their Lunch Boxes

Madison — What should be packed in the school child's lunch box? For the benefit of mothers who are sending their children off to school every morning with the little green or red box under their arm, the State Medical Society offers suggestions for the contents of the box.

"Many schools today have cafeterias where school children may obtain their lunches at a reasonable cost; however, the problem of packing the lunch box for those children who carry their lunch is still evident," the society says.

"Mothers, who are anxious to include a well-balanced meal for their children are met with the task of providing as nourishing a meal as could be eaten at home.

"When lunches must be carried to school, it is wise to purchase some kind of a vacuum bottle or container in which one warm food can be carried. This hot dish may be cocoa, cream soup, vegetable stew, macaroni and cheese, stewed vegetables, or other similar easily prepared nourishing dish. Some schools now supply at least one or two hot dishes to supplement the cold lunch brought from home. Others provide a complete meal including soup, a main dish of sandwiches, vegetables, milk or a milk drink.

Wisconsin Health

BY DR. CORNELIUS A. HARPER, State Health Officer

It isn't reportable to the bureau of communicable diseases and the germ causing the malady has never been isolated, but along about this time of year a sort of molding process attacks a large proportion of our population.

The symptoms show the patient with a tendency to hibernate, to stick close to the arm chair and radio, to become lethargic and dull. The disease generally follows the seasons of warm weather sports such as golf, swimming, sailing and tennis, and reaches its peak in the winter months, tapering off until spring brings the return of these activities.

While the disease has such a high prevalence, it is one of the simplest, easiest and most inexpensive to prevent or cure. All the patient needs is a pair of good comfortable shoes and a half-hour of time. The medical profession is agreed on the benefits derived from this simple ancient sport of walking.

Walking in the open air encourages deep breathing, making more oxygen available in the blood stream which, in turn, aids in the utilization of food. Walking, too, is mentally relaxing because contact with the woods and open fields has no competition in clearing the cobwebs from your brain. In addition, it is invigorating, exhilarating and gives the patient a zest for living that is reflected in good friends, better work and a more healthy mental balance.

With the promise of a glorious Indian summer ahead, the state board of health recommends that no one wait for signs of this molding malady, but to start now on preventive measures which can be carried on into the winter months.

The students averaged from three-eighths to one-half second in the demonstration.

Hollywood — What a contrast between the hit-and-miss, happy-go-lucky professional lives of yesterday's great stars and the carefully regimented, efficiently planned existences of today's greats! Sonja Henie, for instance. Her year is divided into four equal spans — three months for Picture No. 1, three months for her annual exhibition tour, three months for Picture No. 2 and three months for vacation. That routine is safeguarded by contract clauses — the studio can work her so long, and no longer, can make so many pictures and no more.

Almost all of today's top-flight stars are either working under similar rules, or fighting with their studios to get under them. Unions and guilds have imposed limitations upon studio working hours.

to that particular day, not to the future. Undoubtedly Hollywood as it is today, half-buried under contractual "musts" and "must-nots" is more efficient than it used to be, but it has lost color. The element of adventure is gone and our stars, despite their insured savings accounts, are only pale reflections of the exciting, unpredictable scapegraces of two decades ago.

PERSONAL OBSERVATIONS:

When Charles Farrell is really mad, that scar on his chin flames scarlet. No star in Hollywood can turn on the chill more effectively than Loretta Young when someone she dislikes trespasses on her set. When gaudier neckerchiefs are worn, they'll be found around the gullet of Slapsie-Happsie Rosenbloom. Sitting or standing, Mae West always manages to display her unusually . s . m a l l feet. Charles Laughton sees nothing funny in a practical poke — if it's at his expense.

Because Linda Darnell prides herself on an uncanny memory for names, an amusing bit of fan-trickery has been discovered. She received a letter from a Mrs. Goddell, who after telling how much she had enjoyed meeting Linda, reminded her that she had promised the writer an autographed picture. Linda, annoyed because she couldn't remember meeting anyone by that name, started making inquiries. Tyrone Power said he had received a similar letter and, just to be safe, had mailed the requested photo. A further check showed that every big star on the lot had the same story to tell. The conclusion was obvious — Mrs. Goddell's reasoning that stars met too many strangers to remember individual names, planned to evade the twenty-five cent charge made by the studio for star photos.

At lunch today, Director Wesley Ruggles recalled one of the best quips of the late Wilson Mizner, famous wit. A certain blonde on successive evenings paraded into the Brown Derby — the first time with Lew Brice, the second time on the arm of Monte Brice. "Ah," said Wilson, "a plain case of Brice disease!"

RUBBISH FIRE

Firemen were called at 5:45 yesterday afternoon to put out a fire in the dump near W. College avenue.

Mother, Mix Your Own Cough Remedy. It's Fine.

Quick, Comforting Relief. Saves Money. Easily Mixed.

This well-known home-mixed medicine costs very little, but it gives delightful, swift-acting relief from coughs due to colds. It takes but a moment to prepare — it's so easy a child could do it. And it saves real money.

Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments until dissolved. No cooking is needed.

Then get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex from any drugist. Pour this into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. Thus you make a full pint of really splendid cough remedy and you get about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, lasts a family a long time and children love its taste.

And for quick, blessed relief, you'll say it is truly wonderful. It has a remarkable action. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages.

Pinex is a compound containing Norway Pine and palatable guaicol in concentrated form, well-known for its prompt action in coughs and bronchial irritations. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

V. F. W. Auxiliary Will Sell Poppies In City Saturday

Proceeds of Campaign Used in Helping Disabled Veterans

The Harvey Pierre post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will hold its annual Poppy day sale in Appleton Saturday, the funds going towards the benefit of needy veterans and their dependents both in Appleton and throughout the United States.

Arthur Slater is chairman from the post, assisted by George Steinert and Conrad Giesbers. Mrs. Patrick Ferguson is auxiliary chairman, assisted by Mrs. John Miller and Mrs. Max Buske.

The auxiliary members do the actual canvassing, beginning about 8 o'clock Saturday morning and continuing through the day. They will center their activities in the downtown district, distributing about 5,000 poppies.

Mayor John Goodland, Jr., today issued a proclamation for Poppy day. It reads as follows:

"Saturday, Nov. 4, the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States will conduct its 18th annual nationwide sale of Buddy Poppies, one of the most widely known and most generally approved of America's philanthropic campaigns. The yearly poppy distribution has always had the endorsement and cooperation of those who understand its purpose.

"For Help of Veterans

"Whereas the poppy is named in memory of America's soldier dead, and it is made by America's disabled veterans in government hospitals, and while a portion of the cost of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Buddy Poppies is used for the state and national service of the V. F. W., and one penny of the cost of each poppy sold is devoted to the maintenance of the V. F. W. national home at Eaton Rapids, Mich., all citizens are urged to recall the spirit of these gallant dead and renew the memory of their patriotic service by wearing the Buddy Poppies Saturday."

Mrs. Ferguson said this morning that headquarters on W. College avenue will be in the Slater Furniture company and on E. College avenue in the Appleton Tire Shop.

Santa Claus Will Have City Headquarters Starting Dec. 1

Santa Claus, who has brought gifts and good cheer into millions of homes over the centuries, will arrive in Appleton Dec. 1 for his preliminary study of just what Appleton youngsters want for Christmas.

His coming will be quite an event for the Appleton Chamber of Commerce is arranging for a reception committee made up of city officials and business men as well as the youngsters, who will really welcome him.

Tentative plans for the event were mapped at a meeting of the chamber committee in charge Wednesday at the Chamber office. Herman Hecker is chairman of the committee which is working in co-operation with Mrs. Hazel F. Banister, county WPA recreational director.

A costume parade for the youngsters with prizes for various types of costumes will be held. The parade will be handled by Wayne Jones.

Santa Claus in his sleight will enter the city on the west end of College avenue and will proceed to his temporary headquarters, the public library, where he will be welcomed by Mayor John Goodland, Jr., and other officials.

A large mail box in which letters to Santa may be posted by the children will be placed in front of the library along with a desk for Santa where he can interview those who come to see him.

Answers to some of the letters will be broadcast over radio station WBYB by Santa, the committee decided. Arrangements for time on the air have not been completed but adequate warning will be given so that children may listen to the program.

While Santa is in town, the chamber committee suggested that might be induced to visit churches and schools where groups of youngsters could see him. Arrangements for visits may be made by calling Kenneth Corbett, secretary of the Chamber.

Says Allies' War Aims Aren't Clear

Dr. Cummings Urges 'Attitude of Reason' Toward Conflict

Dr. Richard O. Cummings, assistant professor of history, in a talk before the Appleton Kiwanis club yesterday noon in the Conway hall, advised the reading of war news "with an attitude of reason rather than emotion."

Speaking on public opinion in the United States and its relation to the present European conflict, Dr. Cummings said that the "war aims of the allies have not been clearly defined and until they are, it is improbable any accurate impression can be formed of the manner in which American interests are involved."

The Lawrence professor said that America's chief interest in the war is the establishment of peace and that "at present it is difficult to determine what is the best way to achieve this end."

Idle Lists Aims And Achievements Of Farm Council

Addresses Delegates and Visitors at 3-Day Madison Meeting

Madison.—(P)—Listing the measures the Wisconsin Council of Agriculture supported and opposed during the legislative session, Herman Idle, council president and chairman of the state board of agriculture, said today the organization had adhered to its policy of developing "agricultural leadership," strengthening "existing farm organizations," and presenting "a united agricultural program."

Idle made his report as 400 delegates and visitors gathered here for the council's annual three-day "get together," which will extend through Saturday. Governor Heil will welcome the visitors at a banquet tonight.

Among the legislative accomplishments, Idle listed the new employment peace act, which he said the council had drafted to bring about "a better balance in this state among the three major economic forces—labor, industry, and agriculture, and to balance the rights of agriculture and industry in labor agreements."

The council, he continued, also took a definite stand against legislation believed "detrimental to agriculture."

"We have taken our place in the front line to hold back substitutes trying to dislodge our dairy and livestock products from their strongholds of public favor," he said.

(He apparently referred to measures designed to eliminate the state oleomargarine tax.)

"The council opposed legislation which would lower the high standards of Wisconsin ice cream," Idle continued. "We fought to save the filled milk statute and opposed the bill which would have permitted the manufacturers of condensed and evaporated skimmed milk to market their product without any label restrictions."

Returning to "constructive legislation," Idle declared the council had drafted and supported the dairy licensing and bonding bill which was designed to secure farmers against losses on delivered dairy products.

"When it became evident," he continued, "that the federal government would require the state to match indemnity payments dollar for dollar on cattle found to be Bang-infected, the council fought vigorously for adequate funds to meet this situation."

"The council was instrumental in bringing fluid milk groups together to try to work out a more practical and effective fluid milk market stabilization law. While the measure which passed in the legislature was not in the form it was originally introduced, the council vigorously supported it, feeling that any measure that will help stabilize milk markets without adversely affecting other dairy markets is a step in the right direction for agriculture."

"To bring national and international attention to Wisconsin's fame as a dairy state the council wrote and advocated the measure which provided for dollar-for-dollar payment for lost dairy products on all 1940 state license plates. The slogan, already familiar to most people in this state, will appear on between 700,000 and 750,000 plates," he said.

Idle declared that the council also had backed a measure—which became law—turning over $80,000 to the state department of agriculture to finance more frequent dairy inspections and grading of dairy products.

He asserted that his organization had given "unqualified" approval to the industry's program to expand markets and join other states in a nation-wide campaign for advertising dairy products.

War on Substitutes

House Is Nearing Ballot on Repeal Of Arms Embargo

It would be unneutral to change the rules in war time."

Representative Austin (R-Conn.) said that repeal of the embargo would make United States participation in the European conflict "not only possible, but probable" while retention made such participation "possible." Asserting that this country was "neutral-minded," Austin told the house:

"We miserably fail the people if, under the guise of neutrality we actually translate their desire into intervention."

In one of a series of brief speeches against repeal, Representative Andersen (R-Minn.) said removal of the embargo meant "notice on the rest of the world that the United States is unneutral."

Against administration estimates of a 15 or 20 vote margin for repeal, the A. C. made no outright claims of victory but forecast a "very close vote." They figured they would get about 200 votes, which is not quite a majority of the present 429 members.

The aim of administration leaders was to send neutrality legislation to a senate-house conference committee without tying the hands of house delegates with specific instructions. The senate has voted to repeal the arms embargo, and lacking directions to the contrary, a majority of the house conferees could be expected to support the senate action.

Michigan Governor Intervenes in Strike

Lansing, Mich.—(P)—The scene of negotiations in the dispute between Chrysler corporation and the CIO United Automobile Workers shifted today to the office of Governor Luren D. Dickinson.

Acting in conjunction with the state mediation board, Dickinson intervened yesterday with the request that all participants in the deadlocked conferences at Detroit meet with him and the board at the state capital.

James F. Dewey, federal labor conciliator who has been directing negotiations, adjourned the Detroit conference indefinitely.

Gun Accidents Took 20 Lives Last Year; Season Here Again

The last hunting season saw a decline from the previous year of about six cases in the number of hunting accidents and the Wisconsin Conservation department is anxious for a new decrease in the casualty list.

The season on rabbits and squirrels has opened and the bear and deer hunting season will open Nov. 25 with the resulting hordes of hunters in the northern woods. There isn't much the department can do about careless handling of guns but suffering and loss of life would be reduced to a minimum if all hunters could be convinced that a gun is a dangerous weapon.

There were 74 gun accidents a year ago, resulting in 20 deaths.

Ministers Asked To Announce Start Of Roll Call Drive

Letters were sent today to ministers of Appleton churches urging them to announce the start of the annual Red Cross roll call, Nov. 11, according to Mrs. S. C. Shannon, executive secretary of the Outagamie county chapter.

E. A. Spees, field representative in Wisconsin for the national chapter, was in Appleton today to discuss plans for the campaign with Mrs. Shannon and the drive co-chairmen, the Rev. G. I. Blum and George F. Werner.

Mrs. Shannon said she expected Spees would aid in organization work in the county this afternoon and Friday. Committees are being formed to direct the campaign in the residential, business and industrial districts of the city.

A booster meeting at the Rio theater will start the roll call which will continue to Nov. 30. John E. Hantschel, county clerk and a veteran of the last war, will talk at the theater meeting to roll call workers and anyone else interested. He will tell of his experiences with the Red Cross in France.

The program will be combined with the American Legion's observance of Armistice day. The roll call will start after the booster meeting. The quota this year has been raised from 2,200 to 3,200 members because of the increased need for the services of the Red Cross.

It Is Said--

That Elmer Honkamp, Eighth district Republican chairman, would have to be able to appear in three different places at the same time to fulfill the demand for him, as a speaker. He has been invited to speak at Republican dinners at Green Bay, Sturgeon Bay and Manitowoc on Saturday evening, Nov. 11. Honkamp has been forced to turn down two of the invitations to fulfill his engagement at Manitowoc on that evening.

That the main corridor of city hall Tuesday resembled a set in a Hollywood studio. There were the characters, the powerful lights and the motion picture camera. It was R. L. Swanson and his staff taking city hall scenes for a new safety picture now in production.

John Adams, who has bachelor quarters in a little house built over the water near the Appleton Boat club, was 69 years old Tuesday.

A native of Italy (this name has been Americanized) and a roamer of the high seas, John has been living down near the boat club for about 12 or 15 years. A group of the members, knowing of his birthday, had a party for him Tuesday night. John recalled days when he worked in a quarry in northern Italy and the adventures he met as a seaman. But what the boys will remember longest is John's claim that the birthday cake which the club members brought to his party last night was as far as he could remember, the first cake he had even eaten. His diet is quite simple, John explained, and somehow he never got around to cake—until his 69th birthday.

Perhaps it just happened that way or perhaps the troop committee of Troop 5 has unusual foresight. Anyway, there wasn't much that about 20 members of the troop could do in the way of Halloween pranks Tuesday night except howl around a swamp.

Seems that the committee thought it would be a nice idea if the troop had an outing at their cabin in Center swamp. So four members of the committee, Ray Schwallier, Dr. A. Deane, Ed Mollen, and C. R. Laut, took 20 of the youths by car out to the cabin early Halloween evening and returned them about 10 o'clock tired and ready to go to bed. There are very few doorbells, front porches, or car tires in Center swamp.

That a youngster living on Franklinside learned this morning that the victor in a war is not necessarily the winner. A pair of 6-year-olds were engaging in a violent fist-fight when the mother of one of the boys, the one apparently winning the fight, intervened. He found that being the winner in a fight didn't mean a thing to his mother who gave a demonstration of what happens at a hazing party in a college fraternity.

Trade Deals are Pushed Between Germany, Russia

But it was contended that Molotov's declaration of Russian neutrality applied only to the present war and the inference was left that Moscow might reach another decision should the conflict spread into a general European war.

CHAMBERLAIN COMMENT

London.—(P)—Prime Minister Chamberlain, making his weekly war report to the house of commons today declared Russian neutrality was "a very important" policy speech had "occasioned some disappointment" in Berlin.

Chamberlain said he refused to disturb himself over the flights of fancy in which Molotov indulged when describing the aims of the allies.

(The Russian premier Tuesday accused the allies of fighting Germany primarily to protect their colonial empires, and declared the restoration of Poland could not be considered.)

(He dwelt at length on friendly relations with Germany, but made no mention of any aid other than economic and political to Berlin.)

Despite losses to British shipping since the war started the prime minister said "nothing has occurred to shake our confidence in our ability to overcome the submarine menace."

Take Toll of U-Boats

We have continued to take toll of enemy submarines although a certain number of British merchant ships have been lost, he declared.

Saying that stormy weather had slowed the war, Chamberlain described as "particularly gallant" the flights of Royal Air force reconnaissance planes over Germany.

In discussing Molotov's speech, Chamberlain recalled a declaration made by the Russian premier May 31 that the Soviet Union stood for peace and the prevention of aggression.

That also is the position of the British government, Chamberlain declared, adding that Britain's war aims had been stated in plain terms.

The presence in London of German ministers he called a "striking demonstration of the united determination of the empire."

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

LIVE ON FARMS
Most countries in Europe have short, simple names. We may give as examples: France, Spain, Norway, Sweden, Denmark and Holland.
Among the longer names is one which belongs to a country on the Adriatic sea. It faces toward Italy, and is known as Yugoslavia. The name means "Land of the South Slavs."

Farmer and his wife in street of Yugoslav village.
Yugoslavia has about twice as many people as the state of Ohio. It is two and one-third times as large as Ohio.

If you visited a village in Yugoslavia, you might see a farmer who had come to town on foot, carrying a live sheep on his shoulders. He would be on his way to market, perhaps having walked miles with his burden.

The nation has a few large cities. Belgrade, the capital, has a population of a quarter of a million. It contains wide streets and quite a number of well-built homes. There are automobiles and trolley cars on the streets, and many of the homes have electric lights.

In general, however, Yugoslavia is "behind the times." Life goes along slowly outside the large cities. There are two-wheeled ox-carts which travel at the rate of about three miles an hour. Forests and mountains cover a great deal of the country. There also are valleys with good soil for farming.

About four out of five people in Yugoslavia live on farms. They raise crops of wheat, rye, potatoes, and flax. Sheep, goats, and cattle graze on the rich pasture lands.

Yugoslavia is made up of several little countries which were put together after the World War. It is a kingdom, and the present ruler is a 16-year-old boy, King Peter. He was proclaimed king when only 11 years of age.

Serbia is one of the small countries which joined to make Yugoslavia. The world knows Serbia as the first country to be invaded in the World War which broke out in 1914.

Neenah Council Decreases Fine On Parking Law

Violators Will Be Assessed $1 and Costs of 75 Cents

Neenah—Parking law violators in Neenah will have to pay a fine of $1 and costs of 75 cents, for the city council adopted an ordinance to that effect last night at a meeting at the hall.

The ordinance provides that persons charged with violating the parking law may within 48 hours go to the police station and sign a written plea of guilty and pay the fine of $1 and costs of 75 cents instead of appearing before a justice of the peace and paying a fine of $1 and costs of $4.05.

Two other ordinances were passed last night, one providing for a change in the parking time limit on Commercial street from 45 minutes to two hours to correspond with Wisconsin avenue, the other prohibits the habitation of trailers within the city. The new law permits visitors to stay 20 days providing the trailer is on private property and its occupants have access to water and toilet facilities. The object of the ordinance is to prohibit persons from coming into Neenah and establishing residence, making them eligible for relief.

A license for operating a liquor store at 226 W. Wisconsin avenue was granted to Roland Bridges, Menasha, and the council granted permission to install street lights on S. Commercial street at McKinley street and on Maple street between Division street and Laundau boulevard.

Will Inspect Walk
The committee on streets, sidewalks and bridges was instructed to investigate the alleged hazardous condition on the recently installed sidewalk on the Adams street bridge and if necessary construct wing-rails at the end of the railings. The committee was given power to act.

Alderman Heigl requested that the traffic and safety committee, of which Harvey Nash is the chairman, make a study of the traffic safety condition on E. North Water street from N. Commercial to First streets. That street leads to the hospital, the alderman said, and there is a lot of traffic on it. He said the street is narrow especially where it is marked on both sides. He suggested that because the terraces are wide, the street could be widened by cutting down the terraces.

The council voted to assess abutting property owners on both sides of the alley leading west off N. Church street for installation of a concrete road two-thirds of the cost of construction, the city assuming the other third. The cost amounted to $3.78 per foot.

Sewer Project
The extensive storm and sanitary sewer installation project under the city-PWA program for this winter, which involves more than 16,000 feet, was accepted by the council last night. The recommendation of the committee on public improvement, Alderman Andrew Andersen is the chairman.

Anton Nielsen, Neenah contractor, appeared before the council, requesting the aldermen to either grant or sell portions of land at the rear of his property on Fairview avenue in order that he can complete the four lots and erect homes on them. The council voted to view the property before entering into an agreement.

Referring to high crowned streets in the city, Alderman Heigl suggested that a program be mapped out whereby property owners who want their streets cut down will get it done providing they install curbs and gutters, the cost of cutting down the street coming out of the general fund. The suggestion was referred to the public improvements committee which is working out a plan.

Alderman Knud Larsen's suggestion for a clean-up day in the fall was accepted by the aldermen, and the council instructed Martin Wacholz, street commissioner, to conduct a clean-up program this fall. The date will be selected this week and advertised, and it was suggested that the work be done next week.

Winnebago County Readies for Snow

Erect Wind Breakers Along Highways, Purchase Sand, Chloride

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau
Oshkosh—With a scattering of snow flakes suggesting the coming winter, 47 miles of snow fence have already been put up in Winnebago county, county highway commissioner E. M. Bird announced today. That figure represents approximately half of the county's snow breakers.

A fleet of 17 large trucks and plows, 5 large plow-equipped trucks, 5 small trucks and plows and 11 power graders comprise the county's snow removal machinery. The bulk of this equipment is housed at Oshkosh but individual units are also stationed at Neenah, Winnebago, Omro and Winchester.

Cost $22,000 Last Year
While the state reimburses the county for snow removal on state trunk highways, Winnebago county spent $22,000 keeping county highways open to traffic last winter. The highway department carried over a balance of $10,000 in its snow removal fund of last year, but will petition the county board for an additional $20,000 to fight this year's snow storms.

The county maintains a regular crew of 65 men for this work and has a reserve list of 55 more for emergencies. For reducing the traffic hazards created by slippery winter roads, the highway department has purchased two carloads of sand and two carloads of calcium chloride.

Urges Year Around Play Program for Cities Over 8,000

Neenah Kiwanis Club Hears Two Rivers Recreation Head

Neenah—Cities with populations of 8,000 or more should have year around recreational programs. Arthur P. Eckley, director of the municipal recreation department at Two Rivers, said in a talk at the noon meeting of the Neenah Kiwanis club Wednesday noon at the Valley Inn. City and school officials were guests of the club at the noon session.

The director explained the recreation program as it exists in Two Rivers and pointed out the need for such a program. He said that there are 400 cities in the United States with full-time recreation programs, while there are 1,293 which have part-time programs. There were 4,000 recreational programs engaged last year, and of this number 3,000 are full-time, and the expenses, including facilities and supervision, amounted to $60,000,000 for 1938.

Eckley outlined the four different methods of administering full time recreational programs. Use Commission Method. He said that the state law provides for a referendum so that the schools may levy a tax for recreational purposes, and the money would be spent by the school board. This plan is in effect in Milwaukee, Madison, Sheboygan, West Allis, and other cities. Another method is through the park board in which a portion of its budget is spent for recreation. Racine has this type.

The commission method is advanced at Two Rivers, and it is highly recommended. Members of the commission are appointed by the council.

The commission's budget last year at Two Rivers amounted to $10,500, less than $1 per capita and .03 cent per participant. The ordinance providing for the commission includes only that it study, develop and direct provisions made in the community for recreation.

Access to school facilities is one of the essentials necessary for a successful recreational program for the school should be the community center. We use the school buildings in Two Rivers when they aren't in need for school purposes. Besides giving men and women and students of parochial schools an opportunity to use these facilities, it enables high school graduates to carry over into adult life an opportunity to use what they learned in high school in recreational programs.

The recreational job is to produce the greatest good for the greatest number from the available facilities and leadership. The greatest impetus for a recreational program is the reduction in juvenile delinquency. Other benefits as well as keeping children off the streets and highways and the human benefit, use of increasing amounts of leisure time.

We have a right to a good wholesome life," he said, adding, "During working hours we earn a living, and during leisure hours we make a life."

Aldermen Clash Over Purchase of City Ambulance

Seek Bids for New Police Squad Car, Sand-spreader

Neenah — Following a limited amount of squabbling between several of the aldermen, the city council at a meeting last night voted to purchase a new ambulance as well as advertise for bids for a new squad car for the police department and a sandspreader for the street department.

Two members of the police, fire and health committee, Aldermen James Andersen and Robert Martens opposed the third member, Alderman Richard O'Brien, in the purchase of the ambulance. The council voted, 6 to 4, to accept the majority recommendation and purchased a Studebaker ambulance from the Neenah Tire and Battery company, Aldermen W. A. F. E. Buschey, John Heigl, Knud Larsen and O'Brien casting dissenting votes.

The firm from which the ambulance was purchased submitted the low bid of $2,440, but Alderman O'Brien objected to the machine because it was a convertible ambulance and hearse and the ceiling was four inches lower than the Packard ambulance. The bid for that machine was $2,525. Alderman Larsen said he didn't think it was advisable to purchase the cheapest machine, while Aldermen Heigl and Buschey said the matter should be held over so that all of the aldermen should know what kind of a machine was being purchased.

A Bit Of Argument
Alderman Martens, who is chairman of the committee, sarcastically remarked that Alderman Heigl should be the chairman, and the latter replied that "Any man who stays awake nights worrying about U-turns should be the head of all the committees."

"You're a smart alex, eh?" was Alderman Martens' retort. Alderman Heigl was referring to a remark made by Alderman Martens at the preceding meeting that he stayed awake nights worrying about women and children who had to scatter out of the way of automobiles making U-turns on W. Wisconsin avenue at Church street. The proposed ordinance on prohibition of U-turns, which was referred to the committee on traffic and safety at the last meeting, was not mentioned last night.

Then Alderman Martens and O'Brien exchanged words about the purchase of the squad car. The former charged that when he tried to get a price on a deal from a local dealer, the dealer said he couldn't sell under $500, so "Alderman O'Brien thought he'd put one over on me and went out and got a price of $495, but I fooled him. I got a lower price of $475."

Mayor Orders Bids
Alderman O'Brien denied that he was trying anything underhanded, stating that when he heard the one dealer sell at a price of $500, he investigated and found that it could be purchased for less. He added, "And it can." Mayor Kalfahs objected to this procedure, however, so the council voted to advertise for bids. It was pointed out that the squad car has traveled more than 64,000 miles.

Alderman Carl Loehning, chairman of the street committee, recommended that a sandspreader be purchased. He said there were two types, a large one for about $350 and a small one for about $110. He pointed out that the equipment is especially necessary for sanding long stretches of roads, clandering and oiling.

The council voted to accept the offer from the public works administration to increase the grant from $63,000 to $71,100 for the swimming pool and recreation building project. Justice of the peace reports were read, and fines and fees assessed last month in the court of Justice Gaylord C. Loehning amounted to $14,000 and in the court of Justice Edgar H. Rattle $7,020.

Alderman Edward Schultz, chairman of the finance committee, reported that last month 165 accounts were incurred amounting to $20,147.87. The larger bills included pool estimate $6,600.38, readymixed concrete $2,933.50, relief $1,415.45 and street lighting $1,334.56.

English Expect American Help, Pastor Asserts

Fond du Lac Minister Tells Brotherhood of European Journey

Neenah — The Rev. Lowell Maechtle, Fond du Lac, who toured Europe last summer, told about 65 members of the Albright Brotherhood of the First Evangelical church at a dinner meeting last night at the church that the English people have no doubts that America will help them in the European war.

The Rev. Mr. Maechtle went on a 2-week bicycle trip through Europe last summer before attending the first world Christian youth conference at Amsterdam, Holland. He said it was the largest representative meeting ever held, 70 different nations being represented. Following the conference he went through Germany, Switzerland, France and England.

He told the Brotherhood that the people in Europe didn't want the war and that Americans can help in establishing a permanent peace by not allowing another Versailles treaty. He stressed the fatalistic attitude of the Europeans, who live from one day to the next and not for the future.

The Rev. E. D. Paulin was the toastmaster. Group singing and a violin and piano duet number by Walter Malchow and his son, Daniel, provided entertainment.

Following the address, Farley Hutchins played a piano solo and John Helm a violin solo with Hutchins at the piano. An open forum discussion period on the welfare of the Albright Brotherhood was held. The Determined Workers Bible class served the dinner.

St. John Gridders To Play St. Mary Team Friday Night

Cadets Have Scored Three Victories. Lost Two Games This Season

Menasha — St. John Military academy gridders of Delafield will invade Butte des Morts field at 8 o'clock Friday night to meet St. Mary High school in the final game of the season at Menasha. Officials for the game will be Ole Jorgensen, Neenah; Harold Brise, Appleton; and William Wheeler, Oshkosh.

The academy team has scored three victories and lost two games this season. The team opened the season by beating St. Stanislaus High school of Milwaukee, 20 to 0. Pullman Technical High school of Chicago scored a 14 to 12 victory over the cadets. Wayland academy of Beaver Dam was trounced by a 19 to 7 score and the Delafield team hit the high spot of the season by beating the Ripon college freshmen, 7 to 0.

Last Saturday the St. John team suffered its only bad setback, losing to a heavy Morgan Park Military academy team of Chicago, 24 to 0. The St. John line was unable to hold long enough for the backs to get away. The game with Morgan Park left the St. John team with several injuries and, while none of them are serious, there are one or two boys who may not be able to play or at least will not be in top condition.

Captain Edison B. Lerch is the coach of the St. John team and is a graduate of the school with the class of 1919. He played two seasons on the St. John's football team while he was a cadet. He has been the head coach for eight seasons, after assisting Captain Wilhelm, former coach, for several years with the backfield.

Under his coaching the team has won 43 games and lost 11. Two teams were undefeated in seven games each while another team won seven and lost one by a point. Another team won eight and lost one.

Keefe Declares Repeal Intended To Aid the Allies

Asserts 'Insincerity' Has Marked Debate on Embargo Questions

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau
Washington — Congressman Frank B. Keefe, Oshkosh Republican, stated that "the real motivating influence behind the demand for repeal of the arms embargo is a desire to help England and France in their fight to overwhelm Hitlerism in Europe."

In his first speech prepared for the debate on neutrality revision, Keefe asserted that "camouflage" and "insincerity" had marked debate on the question.

"The people of America are composed of citizens having in their bodies the blood of many nationalities and in their hearts ties springing from associations with their homelands," he said. "It is not unnatural, therefore, that in times of stress such as the present, despite all caution to the contrary, our people are prone to take sides in any foreign war."

"Calm Reasoning"

Keefe argued, that "we confine our attention only to thinking in terms of the interest of the United States. In a legalized and highly documented rebuttal, Keefe opposed what he considered to be the main arguments of the pro-repeal forces. He emphasized:

"That the present arms embargo must be 'tested in the light of intentions or objective' rather than as to how it 'discriminates against the British and French and gives an advantage to Germany.'"

"Neither the president nor any of his supporters" has proved "that the present law impairs the peaceful relations of the United States with foreign nations."

Cites Distinction
That "there is an actual legal and psychological distinction between arms, munitions and implements of administration supporters call that distinction 'artificial.'"

Since it is apparent "that this country did not depart from international law in enacting the embargo legislation, the point at issue in reality resolves itself into the question of whether reliance on international law alone is a safeguard to assure this country's security from war."

He called on members of the house to come forward and show how "domestic considerations" in the United States might be promoted by repeal. The only argument yet advanced, said the Oshkosh congressman, was for profit "arising from the sale of instruments of death" which "a great majority of the people of this nation do not want."

Highs Cop First Conference Game

Sustained March in Second Period Beats North, 7 to 0

MULLEN COUNTS

Takes Pass From Filz After Latter, Brash Pace Drive

BY GORDON MCINTYRE
SHEBOYGAN — Appleton High school students, who celebrated last week because the Terrors scored their first touchdown of the current season, had further occasion to celebrate today because the Terrors won their first conference game last night here. The victim was Sheboygan North and the score was 7 to 0. The win also was the second of the season, the highs having beaten Milwaukee Boys Tech in a non-league game back in September.

The two teams were evenly matched excepting the second period when Appleton marched to its touchdown. Both squads had the deensive assignments pretty well in hand and battled hard but their offenses failed to click. North got past midfield only once in the third stanza when Wolf rattled off a 30-yard gain.

Several Opportunities
Appleton, on the other hand, had several opportunities but the forward passes failed to reach receivers or the running plays bogged actually and literally. The game was played in the Sheboygan ball park and there were times when the gridders had to slide around in the goo out on the baselines.

Twice in the first quarter Appleton got breaks in North territory but couldn't capitalize on them. Early in the stanza Filz passed to Reider who was downed in mid-field but that was as far as that drive got.

Then Appleton punted to North and Reider tackled hard enough to knock the ball out of the safety's arms and Heinritz plumped down on the North 27. Here Filz tossed four straight passes in an attempt to advance and none connected.

North took the ball and ran a couple plays and fumbled with Nolan recovering for the Terrors on the North 30. Once more the Terror attack got nowhere and Appleton gave up the ball on downs. The period closed with North getting off a 65-yard punt with the wind to the Appleton 15.

With the opening of the second quarter, Appleton was under way on a march that was to bring a touchdown. Brash pushed through center for the first gain and Filz made a first down on the 30. Continuing on the ground, Brash made it first down on the 40, and Filz skipped off tackle for a first down on the Sheboygan 49.

Mullen Scores
Here Filz changed his tactics and pitched a pass to Cooper for no quite a first down so Brash went off tackle, broke into daylight and was hauled down on the North 33 after a gallop through the mud to dry ground and grass. The rushes were continued and there was a first down on the 22-yard stripe. Here Filz faded back, tossed a pass just over the line of scrimmage to Bill Mullen who legged it over the goal line after getting rid of a couple tacklers. Heinritz booted the point on a kick from placement.

North struck sharply after the kickoff when Wolf staged a 30 yard gallop but Appleton stopped further thrusts and took the ball on downs.

Appleton staged one brief march in the third period for the only excitement. Crabb intercepted a North pass on the 50 and Kiletoth figured in a reverse that saw him hauled down on the North 35. Pegel, Filz and Pegel carried the ball to a first down on the 25 where the attack was stopped and a fourth down pass was intercepted by Sheboygan on the 8-yard line. Appleton drew a penalty on the play when Cooper got in a right jab that the headliners saw. The penalty helped North out of trouble.

The fourth quarter produced nothing in the way of excitement. Once Crabb intercepted another pass in midfield and the Terrors earned a first down by inches but then punted. Later in the period Filz made a fine return of a North punt from almost his own goal line out to the Appleton 35.

New "Angel" Will Try to Revive Boxing in Chicago

CHICAGO — Here comes the man with the mandolin and he's playing "Chicago" must become a boxing center again.
He is William Robert Rand, possessor of an expansive bankroll and intentions to restore big-time boxing to Chicago, which holds the world's record of attendance and receipts for both indoor and outdoor shows. For the last two years, however, the fist fighting business, with the exception of small neighborhood shows, has been in the doldrums.

Tomorrow night the young impresario steps where other "angels" have failed to tread — into the spacious Chicago Stadium for a presentation featuring Sammy Angott, Louisville, Ky., No. 1 challenger for the lightweight championship, and Baby Arizmendi of Los Angeles in a 10-round bout supported by heavyweight encounters.

Chicago is starting to recognize Rand as fit for the role he wants to play. Joseph Triner, chairman of the Illinois state athletic commission, referred to him as "apparently just the man Chicago needs to give it big-time boxing."

In private life Rand, who is only 36, is a trucking contractor and a real estate operator. Kids and sports are his two favorites. Two years ago Rand organized a boys club to keep the youngsters of Chicago's south side off the streets and supplied them with a clubroom and a gymnasium. Soon the membership had grown to 1,000. Rand footed all the bills.

HUSKY VIKING GUARDS READY FOR RIPPON

Above are two of Coach Bernie Heselson's linemen who will see action against Ripon Saturday here as the Vikings attempt to improve their standing in the Midwest conference. The boys are, left to right, Perry Powell, Milwaukee, and Al Florin, Chicago, both sophomores. Powell has more than his Lawrence college interest in Appleton for he is the grandson of Mrs. Mary C. Kurz, 517 N. Division street. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Lawrence Frosh Show Tomorrow

Battle St. Norbert Yearlings on Whiting Field Grid

Lawrence college's formidable freshman football team will play the second and final game of their season on Whiting field here Friday when it meets the yearlings of St. Norbert. Tied by Northwestern college, 13 to 13, at Watertown on Oct. 12, the Viking pups, coached by Joe Maertzweiler, are anxious to show the varsity that they have a winning ball club and are good for something other than sparring partners. The rivalry between the frosh and varsity, which is predominantly sophomores, has been especially strong this season and the first year men want no more "ribbing."

Maertzweiler intends to start practically the same lineup that opened against Northwestern with Henkes, Racine, and Buesing. Appleton, at the wings: Liss, Milwaukee East, and Plummer, Batavia, Illinois, at tackle: Wilmet, Milwaukee East, and Dudley, Wausau, will be the guards; and at center will be Francis of Janesville. Star, Milwaukee Custer, is the quarterback. Smith, Madison, and Meyers, Milwaukee East, at the halves; and Truchan, all city fullback, Milwaukee East, will be at his customary place.

There is little to choose between the starting lineup and others who played in the first game and no doubt will in this available lineup: Lawrence: Henkes, Racine, III; Wileman, Edgerton; Hrudka, Manitowish; and Kramer, Appleton; Backs: Kromer, Mooseheart, III; Kramer, Glen Ellyn, III; Allen, Morgan Park, III; Crossett, Racine, and Olson, East De Pere. Maertzweiler praised the play of the entire squad following the game at Watertown, with special mention going to the work of Henkes at end and Smith at halfback. Hrudka has looked well in practice. Lawrence defeated St. Norbert by a score of 6 to 0 at De Pere last year.

gan North—Manke, back; Bachow, end; Trilling, tackle.
Officials: Referee, Darlings, umpire, McMaisters; headliners, Ferrazzo, all of Green Bay.

Carl Doehling Moans Over Bill Shakespeare's Works As Ripon Preps for Vikes

BY CLEM LUECK
RIPON — "One sorrow never comes but brings an heir," that may succeed as his inheritance. Thus quotes Coach Carl Doehling these days as he finds mournful solace in the words of his favorite poet, good old Bill Shakespeare. Unfortunately, though the immortal bard may have done some punting on the Avon, his works reveal no practical football advice that can help Coach Carl and his Ripon Redmen in their present dilemma.

Three sorrows have swooped down upon them this week, this crucial week of preparation for the

Lawrence game at Appleton Saturday. Misfortune struck its first blow when "Swede" Krcmar, Ripon's greatest backfield man since Don (Red) Mortin, wrecked a shoulder on the first play of the second half in the Monmouth game.

He's been nursing it ever since and hasn't been in uniform. He insists he'll play, the college doc is doubtful. Doehling just groans and reaches for his volume of Shakespeare.
Next the gridiron fates picked on Ray Peters. He's that scintillating understudy of Krcmar who turned out a duplicate sketch of his master's artistry last week by sprinting 50 yards for the winning margin against Monmouth. Ray has been called home to Chicago by the sad news that his father was injured in an auto accident. There is no word as yet on the possibility of his return by Saturday.

There must have been three on a light at the Ripon field. Keith Kuehn, sophomore end and the most effective defensive lineman on the squad, suffered a shoulder ligament injury in Tuesday's practice. The trainer says that Keith positively cannot play Saturday.
As Doehling ruefully reshuffles the cast for the Viking performance, he's hoping there is no epilogue to the three-act tragedy he's witnessed this week. If both Krcmar

Kenosha Coopers are Beaten by 7-6 Score

East Chicago, Ind. — Failure to make good a conversion after touchdown cost the Kenosha Coopers a 7 to 6 setback in an American Professional Football league game against the Calumet Indians here last night.

Calumet had punted out the Coopers 17 to 15, in a game at Kenosha two weeks ago.

The Coopers' touchdown came in the second quarter when Clem Naughton, an end, intercepted a pass and ran 19 yards to score. Fred Venturilli, a guard, missed the kick for conversion.

In the next period Jimmy Angelich passed 15 yards to Hamity on the goal line for Calumet's marker and Mondala kicked the game-winning point after touchdown.

Aldermen Would Like Some Bowling Suckers

Aldermen Leland Feavel and Peter Delain have an idea they are pretty good at this game of bowling and to substantiate their claim have issued a challenge to all comers, provided the comers work for the city or are city officers. The two aldermen want matches and they wouldn't be adverse to a side bet of say, a case of beer, they said.

Bob Schmidt punched a 247 game and Mike King smacked a 608 series to share individual honors during Industrial League matches at Arcade alleys last night. Top team totals were registered by Coated Paper with a 1,022 game and Chair Company with 2,874 total.

Chairs continued to climb as they took the wind out of Pond Sport sails for a 3-game triumph. King lead the way with a 229 game and his top series while Schmidt was high for the losers with his big game and a 536 series, Charles Pond getting a 220.

Mellow Brew downed Coated Paper in two games as Wally Greensens pumped a 598 series with a 237 game. Orville Strutz banged 234, W. Strutz topped 220 and R. Lessel-yong thumped 215. Tops for the losers was Andy Jimos with a 211 game and 568 series, J. Plach hitting 219 and W. Smith rolling 212.

Frederick Barbers increased their league lead with a 2-game win over Schlafers Hardway. Ollie Gossens paced the winners with games of 214 and 216 for a 597 series. Joe Heynebaum grooving 220 and Malcolm Buck showing 206. Harold Krueger maintained the losers with a 571 series and 208 game.

Tuttle Press Wins
Woolen Mills ran into another "hot" team last night and dropped two games to Tuttle Press. Chet Maken paced the winners with games of 210 and 213 for a 590 series. Ray Crane banged 211, Lee Barlament pinned 202 and C. De-Young crowded 203.

Two games went to Wire Works in a match with Power Company. William Lessel-yong registered a 571 series with a 207 single. Weiland hit 209 and Buss scored 206. High for the losers was Ross Williams with a 211 game and 597 series.

Power Company Washers upset Atlas Printers in two games as Ralph Piper bagged 200 and tripled 561. Wally Klein jolted 213 and 549 for the losers.

Post Office won the odd game from Al's Bar as Wally Grimmer thumped marks of 215 and 573 and G. Grimmer counted 206. Roy McCallum topped the losers with a 220 game and 531 series.

Montgomery Ward cooled off after winning the first game and dropped the last two to Atlas Embossers. Lyle VanderVelden paced the winners with a 204 game and 550 triple while Joe Herman totaled 526 and James Iverson hit 200 for the losers.

It isn't the booming voice of assistant coach George Lannhear that catches the ear on the Ripon practice field these days; it's the plaintive voice of scholar Doehling, quoting from Hamlet, Act IV:

"When sorrows come, they come not single spies, But in battalions."

Columbus Bullies Humble Louisville
Portsmouth, O. — Sweeping on in their drive toward the American Professional Football league championship, the Columbus Bullies crushed the Louisville Tanks 20 to 0 here last night.

The Bullies scored in the first period when a Louisville punt was blocked and Busch fell on it for the score. In the third period Columbus marched 93 yards before Reupke scored on a lateral from Davis.

Davis scored in the fourth period from the four-yard line.

Manitowoc Planning Amateur Fight Card
Manitowoc — Bert Helwich, missing from the amateur ring for several seasons, will attempt a comeback here Monday, Nov. 13, when he meets Al McPherson, Neopit, a Menominee Indian boxer. Other bouts being considered are Jimmy Coyne, Fond du Lac, and Frank Eisch, Appleton at 155 pounds; Romy Lawrence, Manitowoc, and Bud Crowe, Neopit, at 110 pounds; Al Tucker, Kenosha, and Stanley Baker, Appleton, at 132 pounds; Russ Tourillotte, Neopit, and Ray Wiese, Appleton, at 120 pounds.

Kaukauna Wins NEW Grid Title

Canzoneri Reaches End of His Career

BY BILL WHITE
NEW YORK — Broadway saw one of its favorite sons reach the end of the road in Madison Square Garden last night — and it wasn't a pretty sight.
Old and ring-wise Tony Canzoneri, veteran of 166 stirring battles, was belted into oblivion by the stinging left hand of a young Brooklyn kid, placid Al Davis, in the third of a scheduled 10-rounder in the same arena where his fight with Al Singer set an attendance record back in 1928, the same ring where he lost the featherweight title to Andre Routis, the same ring where he won the lightweight title from Singer in 1930.

Afterwards the Canzoneri dressing room was like a tomb — in sharp contrast to the stuffy quarters where Davis changed into street togs.

"Well, it had to come sometime," Tony mumbled through a cut lip. His followers nodded sadly. He said he hadn't any plans but when asked if this was his last fight he looked glumly up and said, "Gosh, I hope so."

Early in the third round, Davis knocked Tony wobbly with a thunderous left hand. Tony plopped to the floor, but managed to get up at the count of three. The husky Davis burtled across the ring and blasted him again with another flurry and floored him again with a numbing left.

He struggled up at six, but Referee Arthur Donovan, waving the eager Davis away, put his arm around Tony, and led him to his corner.

The fight ended officially at 2:13 of the third round, and drew a gate of $30,793.09, of which Davis and Tony will take about $8,500 apiece.

Hilltop Ground Game Perks Up as Changes are Made

Freddie Rice Goes to Left Half for Game With Duquesne

MILWAUKEE — Marquette university's ground attack, impotent most of the year, apparently had acquired its long-needed punch today with the shifting of substitute fullback Freddie Rice to the left halfback post.

Coach Paddy Driscoll made the change during yesterday's practice in preparation for Saturday's game at Pittsburgh against unbeaten Duquesne.

Immediately the varsity began reeling off steady yardage against a powerful freshman squad. Working with Rice, a sophomore from Waukegan, Ill., were Bill Phillips at quarterback, Johnny Goodyear at right half, and Doug Renzel at full.

Rice can block and run but was considered a less effective passer than Jimmy Richardson and Johnny Maltch, the regular left halfback.

DUKES REMEMBER
Pittsburgh — Aldo "Bull" Donelli, current "marble" coach, figures his unbeaten Duquesne team may bump into the toughest opposition of the season Saturday in the Marquette game despite the Golden Avalanche's unimpressive record.

The one-time soccer star, who fashioned a squad of sophomores into one of the leading teams of the east and a ranking contender for a bowl bid, said his team would be in good shape but added:

"Marquette gave us about the hardest tussle on our schedule for two years and we're not forgetting the game in 1937. We went up to Milwaukee expecting to win and came back on the short end of a 13 to 6 score. Marquette's record doesn't look so good but you've got to remember those fellows have played some of the best teams in the Midwest."

Duquesne will be after its sixth consecutive victory, having already conquered Illinois Wesleyan, Wayneburg, Manhattan, Pitt and Texas Tech. Pitt, going down 20 to 13, has been the only team to score on the Dukes.

Marquette and Duquesne stand all-even in their series, the Golden Avalanche losing the first encounter in 1936 by a 13-0 score and taking the 1937 game by a 13-6 margin.

Ace Parker Supplants Hall as Ace Passer
New York — Three Brooklyn Dodger performers have taken over leading positions in the individual statistics of the National Professional Football league.

Ace Parker has supplanted Parker Hall, Cleveland Rams "freshman," as the No. 1 passer. The Dodger ace stands second in completions, with 46 to Hall's 57; is second to Frank Filchok of the Washington Redskins in efficiency, with an average of 48 per cent, on 46 complete in 94 tries, and is tops in yardage gained on his passes, with 748.

Brooklyn's other pace-setters are veteran Ralph Kercheval and end Perry Schwartz. Kercheval leads the league with six field goals, and Schwartz has caught 20 passes for 392 yards.

John Drake of Cleveland and Joe Maniaci of the Chicago Bears are well ahead of the 1938 pace in scoring and ground gaining. Drake leads in points with 48, and Maniaci, with the No. 1 total of 501 yards, also is out front in average gain, with 7.1 yards for 70 tries with the ball.

BY JOE DESNOYERS
D EPERE — Kaukauna High school demonstrated again why it is tops in the Western division of the Northeastern Wisconsin conference by smothering West De Pere Black Phantoms under a 31 to 13 score at Legion park yesterday afternoon for its sixth consecutive victory.

Every previous rival had been beaten decisively and the Kaws made this final exhibition no exception as they finished the scheduled only unbeaten team in the division. They eased into the championship by this final victory.

Led by Karl Giordana, versatile halfback, the Kaws gave early notice they meant to take the game in stride. Giordana, behind hard blocking, stepped around his right end for 30 yards midway in the opening quarter. He and Bill Ranquette plugged to the 1-yard line and Bob Danner, fullback, went the remaining distance for the first touchdown. Giordana's placement was wide.

Before the quarter ended the Kaws swept half the length of the gridiron with a slashing ground attack to score again. Giordana, Jule Regenfuss and Ranquette alternated as ball carriers and Giordana finished the drive by pouncing through the line for the touchdown. His kick was wide.

Pushing the Phantoms back by a quick kick and a punt soon after the opening of the second quarter, the Kaws scored their third touchdown when Alger recovered a Phantom fumble in the end zone, bringing the score to 18 to 0.

Phantoms Take To Air
The Phantoms struck through the air in the waning moments of the half, but three passes by Bob Tomchek sailed over the heads of the intended receivers, Leo Van Sistine and Al Vanderstee.

Bob Larson's spectacular run of 45 yards in the third period put the Phantoms in scoring position, and they capitalized. Larson was nailed on the 4-yard line by Femal. From that point Andy Heesaker battered Turn to Page 18

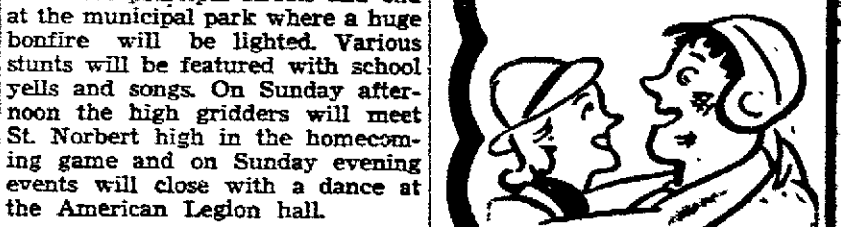

Pirate Infielder Has Regained His Health
Pittsburgh — Any fear that illness might prevent Lee Handley from returning to his regular place at third base for the Pirates next spring has dissipated today.

He wrote Pirate President W. E. Benswanger that all traces of the illness which forced him to leave the club in September had disappeared and that he had regained all of the weight he lost. Lee said a trip to Florida to recuperate had been cancelled and that he would spend the winter at his Peoria, Ill., home.

Benswanger denied a report that George Toporcer, new manager of the Albany, N. Y., club of the Eastern league, had been offered a post as Pirate coach. He said Toporcer's name had not been mentioned in that connection at any time.

Gophers, 'Cats Say Each Is Most Improved Eleven

Alphonse - Gaston Curtis Features Preparations For Saturday

BY ARNOLD DERLITZKI
CHICAGO—The Big Ten's most improved football team today, Minnesota says Northwestern and Northwestern says Minnesota.

Whether it be football propaganda, the Alphonse-Gaston Curtis or some well rounded observation, it still was the basis of preparation at each camp this week as the two rivals pointed for their clash Saturday at Minneapolis.

Bernie Herman, Minnesota coach who personally scouted the Wildcats against Illinois last week, asserted, "Northwestern is the best team I have seen this season."

"I have read and heard since the start of the season that it was disorganized, but there was nothing the matter with the team I saw defeat Illinois."

Scout Litz Ruesch, Northwestern's chief collector of Minnesota evidence, declared:

"At this time, the Gophers compare favorably with last year's team and perhaps are even as good as it was. And last year's team won the title."

The respect the two rivals, each beaten once in conference competition, hold for each other dated back to previous meetings. In the last seven years, Minnesota has lost three conference games, two of them to Northwestern. At home it has not lost to the purple since 1930, but at Evanston, the Gophers have not conquered the Wildcats since 1929.

Each at Peak

Each squad will be at virtually peak condition for renewal of their rivalry. The injured Ollie "Red" Hainstain, Northwestern's ace ground gainer last year, will be back to share the offensive load with Paul Soper, Bill de Corvont and Don Clawson. Minnesota has had two weeks to recover from its Ohio State setback and will have Harold Van Every and George Franck to lead its assault.

The Gophers began tuning up their attack yesterday while Northwestern worked on defense. Ohio State and Indiana, two equally offensive minded rivals who meet Saturday, concentrated on passes—the Buckeyes on throwing them and Indiana on stopping them.

As Coach Fritz Crisler counseled Michigan against belittling Illinois power, the Illini appeared impressive in stopping freshmen using Wolverine plays. Iowa had a look at Purdue plays is expected to see at Lafayette Saturday. The Bollweavers drilled off on contact work. Chicago tapered on a pass defense for Virginia's Cavaliers. Wisconsin, with an open date Saturday, gave over the day to the second team, which showed disappointing form against the freshmen.

Chaffin Chatter

By Gordon R. McIntyre

THERE SHOULD BE SOMETHING to announce tomorrow on the Class D baseball setup in Appleton. Persons interested in Appleton's entry into the loop will gather at the Post-Crescent building and discuss work done so far, the details of a financial drive, and probably name someone to attend the league meeting at Wisconsin Rapids Saturday night.

Last evening, while at Sheboygan, we talked with Otto Kaufman, secretary of the Sheboygan team, and he says the city is more interested in Class D ball now than it ever was in semi-pro ball. He has drawn a schedule which will be offered for adoption at Saturday's meeting. It has Appleton opening the season at home on May 9 and then going down to Sheboygan the next night for the Chair opening. Then the boys will start their regular swing around the loop.

Fond du Lac advanced a long way last month when the Brooklyn Dodgers held a baseball school there. Indications are the downlake team will be affiliated with the Dodgers when the season gets underway.

Peter Mish of Independence High school has signed a contract with the St. Louis Browns baseball team and therefore has been barred from further competition in Wisconsin high school athletics. The WIAA, in its report on the matter, also quotes a paragraph from a letter to K. M. Landis, high commissioner of organized baseball. Both follow:

"The W.I.A.A. Board of Control holds that participation in athletics by a boy who has signed a professional or promotional contract is contrary to the spirit of high school athletics. Therefore, the Board of Control has ruled that a boy becomes ineligible for all high school competition upon signing a contract to participate in professional or promotional activity."

"The W.I.A.A. Board of Control is appealing to you, asking that the practice of having major scouts sign promising high school boys to contracts before the completion of their high school career be discontinued. The Wisconsin organization has been promoting baseball and has developed it to the point where approximately 70% of our schools are competing in this sport on an interscholastic basis. This emphasis upon baseball has undoubtedly attracted the attention of scouts to this field. We feel that high school boys should be 'let alone' until after they at least finish high school courses. Your cooperation in this matter will be appreciated."

We understand there's a youngster over at Kimberly who is rather peeved about the reports on Tuesday's game with Marlon. His name is Jerome Wyngaard and he is a sophomore end on Coach Ray Hammann's championship team. It seems that several times this fall Jerome has caught passes for substantial gains and the credit went to someone else. In Tuesday's game Jerome gathered in a pass from Van Cuyk in the third quarter and scored on a 31-yard gallop, yet the Post-Crescent's story credited the touchdown to another boy. In the fourth period Jerome caught another pass for a big gain and again the credit went elsewhere. So we are taking this opportunity to give Jerome the credit due him and hope that he scores often next season and the next and if he doesn't get proper credit he has our permission to get real angry about it. We would.

first center for the Phantoms' throw score. Haskins missed a place kick.

Mixing passes with their running attack early in the fourth quarter, the Kaws moved goalward, but Bob Tomchek interrupted progress by snaring a pass on the West DePere 20. The alert Mr. Giordana duplicated the feat a moment later and skipped back to the 6-yard line, from which point Ranquette slipped over for the fourth touchdown. Giordana's placement boosted the score to 25 to 6.

Ranquette's interception of a pass and his return of 30 yards to the Phantoms' 18-yard marker set the stage for the Kaws' final score. Giordana was untouched as he broke from behind sweeping interference and crossed the goal standing off.

Andy Heesaker reeled off 35 yards to register the second touchdown for the Phantoms, and Haskins' placement brought the final score to 31 to 13.

Packers Hope to Hand Bears Third Straight Defeat

Bays Can Clinch 1st Place And Break George Halas' Heart

GREEN BAY—The Green Bay Packers meet the Chicago Bears Sunday at Wrigley field in Chicago in a game which will decide for most fans whether the 1939 Packer eleven is worthy of ranking alongside the four other teams from Green Bay which in the past won the title of world champion professional football team.

Regardless of its effect on the final outcome of the 1939 National Pro league standings—and it will be a decided one—the game will be the stiffest test the Packers have faced or will face all season. George Halas' Bears have lost two games in a row, to New York and Detroit. To lose three in a row would be something unheard of in Chicago Bear history for many a year. It would break Halas' heart and would relegate a supposedly all-conquering Chicago eleven to the depths of the standings.

Then too the Bears took a very definite licking at Green Bay earlier in the season, 21 to 16, a fact which the Bears have been emphasizing in practice all week. If the Packers come through this Sunday, their many supporters know that they have what it takes to make a champion.

Records of the teams this season give the Bears a considerable edge in point scoring, but the Packers have the advantage in the win and lost columns. Here are the scores to date:

Packers	Green Bay	10
Packers	14 Cardinals	10
Packers	21 Bears	16
Packers	24 Cleveland	27
Packers	27 Cardinals	20
Packers	26 Detroit	7
Packers	24 Washington	14
Packers	136 Opponents	94

Bears	Chicago	21
Bears	30 Cleveland	21
Bears	32 Pittsburgh	0
Bears	33 Cleveland	21
Bears	44 Cardinals	7
Bears	13 New York	16
Bears	0 Detroit	10
Bears	170 Opponents	96

The game is the 42nd encounter between the two greatest rivals in the National league, a gridiron feud which goes back to the season of 1921. The Bears had the best of it in the early years but in recent seasons the Packers have climbed close to evening the long series. Thus far the Bears have won 19 to the Packers' 18. Four have been ties. The Bears have scored a total of 384 points to the Packers' 359.

Game time is 2 o'clock. Officials are Edward Cochrane, Kansas, referee; M. J. Meyer, Ohio Wesleyan, umpire; Irv Kupcinet, Iowa State, headlinesman; and Dan Tahan, Xavier, field judge.

Challdon Wins Pimlico Special

Beats Kayak by Half Length; May Run in South This Winter

Baltimore

Challdon, champion of all racing for 1939, went on vacation today before getting back on the glory road which stands a good chance of leading him to Sun Beau's all-time high money-winning record of $376,744.

William L. Brann's colt is still nearly $125,000 short of Sun Beau's "bank account," but this bay son of Challenger II, is only three years old—and from the way he whipped Kayak II and Cravat in Alfred G. Vanderbilt's annual "dream race," the Pimlico special, yesterday, there's no indication he's going to stop hitting the jackpot soon.

His half-length victory over Kayak in the $10,000 winner-take-all special at a mile and three-sixteenths, with Cravat a poor third, boosted his earnings after two years of racing to $252,235, and earned him a rest, which Owner Brann and Trainer Lou Schaefer are going to give him now. Although plans still were indefinite, chances are "Big Pete" won't have any more work to do this year.

If he does any work after 1940 comes in, the probability is it will be in Florida. There are plenty of juicy pots at Hialeah and Tropical, headed by the $50,000 Widener cup.

Shawano, New London Will Clash in 2nd Place Battle

BY DON HICKOK

SHAWANO—The Shawano Indians will wind up their football season here Saturday afternoon by playing host to the Bulldogs of New London, with second place promised to the winner. Since both New London and Shawano have beaten everything in sight in the conference except Kaukauna, which seems headed for a sure championship, the second-place spot doesn't look to be an easy one for either team to clinch.

Comparative scores give Shawano the nod but it isn't that simple. Coach Clifford Dilts, with most other members of his fraternity, doesn't like to go into a contest on the long end of the odds, and practice this week is calculated to keep the Diltsmen from being too impotent.

Several players, including Rouleau, Gauthier, junior fullback, Frank Hacker, junior tackle, and Bob Schwers, sophomore center, have been excused from early practices this week because of mementos from the Clintonville game, but

Lewis said in Chicago that if Thomas "threw" the bouts, "he did so without my knowledge and without any instructions of that nature from me."

Clintonville Sees Win Over Rockets

Truckers Hope to Close Season With Only Conference Win

Clintonville—Sixteen Clintonville High school seniors will be playing the last football game of their high school careers next Saturday afternoon when the Clints invade Neenah. It will be the last chance of the season for Clintonville to annex a victory and should the Truckers boys win it would be the first time in years they have not been alone in the cellar. Both Neenah and West DePere have only one victory to their credit and a win by the Clints would make a 3-way tie for fifth or last place in the Northwestern Wisconsin conference's western division.

The departing 16 Clintonville bridders include 12 linemen. They are: Eaur, Gib, Roepke, and Ben Greb, ends; Ed Schuelke, Floyd Huebner, Roland Splitter, and Bill Manser, tackles; Captain Bud Laux, Arlyn Stichman, Russ Shannon and Francis O'Connor, guards; and four backfield men, Jim Billmeyer, quarterback, Art Zemke, halfback, Gus Burdick, full back and Harvey Neundorff, half back.

So far this season the Clints have played good ball. More points have been scored this year than were totaled the last five or six seasons. Last Saturday's game at Shawano, while a walk-away for the Indians, nevertheless was a Clintonville moral victory. The Indians won 40 to 13, but Clintonville scored as many points on the victors as any team has done this season. Kaukauna was the only other squad able to cross Shawano's goal line twice. Two well-executed plays counted markers for the Trucks. The first touchdown was scored on a run by Art Zemke, shifty Clinton halfback, and the second on a pass from Zemke to Jim Billmeyer, quarterback, which caught the Shawano first squad flatfooted.

Clintonville came through last week's defeat with another casualty and Floyd Huebner, one of the departing senior tackles, will be lost to the squad with an ankle injury. Captain Bud Laux and Dusty Stichman, senior guards, suffered minor injuries but will be ready.

Stuhldreher Is Disappointed in Badgers' Efforts

Fail to Show Much in Scrimmage: Will Drill Saturday Morning

MADISON—The University of Wisconsin football team started out on the wrong foot yesterday and turned in a poor scrimmage as it began getting into condition for the Illinois game Saturday, Nov. 11.

Coach Harry Stuhldreher worked the second varsity against a freshman eleven but the reserves could do little with the sturdy yearling outfit Mix-ups in signals, missed assignments and general shabby play brought disappointment to the Badger coach.

Don Peterson was at quarter, Bob Cone and Don Miller at the halves and Ken Sauter at full, in the second backfield.

Cone scored one tally and Ted Damos, who replaced him at left half, dashed to scores from 50 and 90 yards out. However, the performance in general were anything but pleasing and more body contact work was expected this week.

Practice Drill Plays
The remainder of the squad went through a long dummy scrimmage drill and rehearsed several new plays. Also, the freshmen ran through plays that Coach Bob Zuppke's Illini were expected to turn loose against the Badgers.

Stuhldreher announced his shift of Gordie Gile from end to left tackle would be permanent. Another flanker, Jim Jordan, had been shifted to a tackle spot earlier in the season and Stuhldreher said he too would remain at that berth.

A long practice was scheduled for Saturday morning. The first stringers will be worked this afternoon, Saturday's drill will be the last hard workout before the Illinois game. Next week the Badgers will concentrate on new plays and get assignments in smooth running order.

The annual freshman game will be held at Camp Randall field Saturday afternoon. Coach Russ Rippe announced that Robert McKay, of Sioux Falls, S. D., and Dick Thornally, of Chicago, would captain the yearling elevens.

Milwaukee —Pittsburgh is the home town of Bob Mc Cahill, husky sophomore triple-threat quarterback of the Marquette football team, but he's never been there! In fact, Mc Cahill will be "at home" for the first time when the Hilltoppers face unbeaten Duquesne at Forbes field on Saturday. His parents moved to Pittsburgh this fall from Whitefish Bay, Wis., a Milwaukee gold coast suburb.

Man of Mars Loses Wrestling Windup

BY RANDY HAASE
ENABRA — The green-clad Man of Mars was unmasked at S. A. Cook armory Wednesday night when he met defeat at the hands and flying feet of George Hartay, Milwaukee, in the main event of the professional wrestling show.

The trapper, who has appeared twice previously at the armory and won both of his bouts, is Einar Olson of Racine, a brother of Mill Olson who won the semifinal event last night. The slim crowd of 150 people milled about the ring and asked that the defeated wrestler remove his mask. Olson offered to meet Hartay again at any time.

Flying mares were popular holds in the windup bout. The Man of Mars used a series of flying mares to soften Hartay for a body press and the first fall in 18 minutes. Hartay came back strong and added an innovation to the flying mare to take two straight falls and the match.

Hartay clamped a headlock on Olson, threw his feet into the air, thrashed them around like a flying propeller, dropped to the mat and flipped Olson over his body onto the mat. He repeated that maneuver three or four times to take the second fall in eight minutes.

Uses Game Maneuver
Hartay used the same maneuver to take the deciding fall and needed only seven minutes to do the trick. The two put on a fast match that was clean throughout but left the spectators a bit cool. The Man of Mars was unpopular with the crowd, possibly because he was masked.

The fans had plenty to yell about in the first match though in which Mill Olson, Racine, took two straight falls from Buck Lipscomb, a Chicago toughie. The fans just didn't like Lipscomb's tactics, which included biting, gouging, choking, kneeing, and blows of the first along with a few other bits of plesantry. Four or five irate spectators crowded to the edge of the ring and offered to combine their efforts against Lipscomb. A couple of the more pugnacious ones lifted chairs but that was as far as the rebellion got.

Tarzan Krause, popular Milwaukee deaf-mute who was billed to meet Cowboy Waters, served as referee when his opponent failed to show up. Krause got his workout just the same trying to pry Lipscomb away after he had gained an advantage through illegal maneuvers. The victory of Olson was popular with the crowd and when Lipscomb refused to shake hands with his opponent after the match, he just went deeper into the fan's doghouse. In fact, several spectators suggested a muzzle when he tried biting during the bout.

The crowd had its first chance to boo wholeheartedly this season when Lipscomb got going and how the fans made use of that opportunity. Olson got just as tough as Lipscomb but that was alright with the fans for Lipscomb had started it.

After Lipscomb had an early advantage, Olson reversed matters by butting his head into Lipscomb's midsection. Olson took the fall after 11 minutes. He came back to take the second one after seven minutes, using a double winglock. The crowd was satisfied when Olson won.

Princeton Tackle May Suffer Loss of Leg

Princeton, N. J., —(AP)— Don Herring, stalwart tackle of the Princeton University football team, lay on a hospital bed today, unaware surgeons were considering amputating his left leg.

"There is only one chance in a million the leg can be saved," said the injured youth's father, Donald G. Herring, Sr., as he stood mystified last night outside his 21-year-old son's room in Princeton hospital.

Herring, Sr., himself a Princeton line great in '07, came by airplane from Florida yesterday.

Don, six feet four and 237 pounds of brawn, was injured on the first play of the Brown game last week.

Submit New Cage Meet Plan Today

W.I.A.A. Will Offer Proposal at Meeting in Milwaukee

Milwaukee —(AP)— A canvass by the Wisconsin Inter-scholastic Athletic association of member high schools shows a majority in favor of replacing the present regional and state basketball tournament system, which divides schools into A, B and C classifications according to enrollment, with a new plan culminating in a single state tournament.

Paul F. Neverman of Marinette, W. I. A. A. secretary, announced results of the poll here last night.

Formal action has not yet been taken regarding the plan, but the W. I. A. A. was to take it up at a meeting here this afternoon (4 p. m.).

The new proposal, modeled after a plan used in Illinois, calls for 32 district meets, limited to schools with enrollments of 210 or less and with schools of 200 or less having the first opportunity to enter. This would qualify 32 winners for entry into 16 regional meets. Two district winners would be assigned to each regional tournament, the other six places in each meet being open to schools with enrollments greater than 210.

Winners of the 16 regional tournaments then would compete in the state meet at Madison.

For the last four years high schools have been divided into Class A, B and C according to enrollment. District and regional meets have determined entrants in the state tournaments, with the exception of the class A schools which have gone directly into their statewide tourney.

National Hockey Loop Opens Season Tonight

New York —(AP)— Though Canada has declared a state of war, the 1939-40 National Hockey league campaign will get off on schedule tonight when the revamped Detroit Redwings and Chicago Blackhawks meet on the latter's rink.

Just as they did last winter, each team will play 48 games and six of the seven clubs will qualify at the end of the season for the Stanley cup play-offs, won last April by the Boston Bruins.

The season will gather momentum gradually. Saturday night the Bruins will play their first game, at Toronto against the Maple Leafs. Sunday it will be Chicago at Montreal against the Canadiens and the Rangers at Detroit, and next Thursday night the New York Americans, last to get under way, will make their bow at Montreal.

America OUT-OF-DOORS

PUT UP THE OUTBOARD CAREFULLY It Will Be Ready Next Year

By Jack Ryan
JUST as important as putting the boat away so that it will be ready for service when needed next spring is the matter of putting the outboard motor on the shelf. Fixing up the outboard motor is no great shakes of a job, but it does pay off.

Take off the plugs first and be sure to put them away in a good dry place. Next, stick a spoonful of lubricating oil in the spark plug holes and then crank the motor several times to get the oil around the cylinders in good shape.

Put a piece of cotton rag or cork in the plug holes. This will keep them clean, you will probably find that there is some moisture in the lower unit, so unbolt it, and clean it out well with gasoline. Let it dry out and then repack it carefully with grease.

The gas line ought to be given a going over with a wire and a rag, and the sediment screen in the bottom of the gas tank will probably need some cleaning off too. If you want to do a thorough job and do it right, you should then take off the muffler and the manifold, scraping off the carbon and cleaning out all parts and vents before you put the assembly back on again.

Also, you are pretty sure to find some water in the cooling system which should be drained out. The tank, fuel lines, and carburetor should be well flushed out with clean gasoline before the job is put away, and the final gesture before putting on the burial shroud should be to give the whole job a complete going over with an oily rag. Then the motor should be stored in a dry place.

When spring finally rolls around, you will be able to get that outfit of yours down to the water and ready for the business of pushing you around with mighty few preliminaries. At the outside, thirty minutes ought to do the trick.

If you are anything like the average, mine run guys, that thirty minutes will be a saving of several days under what it usually takes to put a neglected outboard in running condition so that it won't fail at the critical moments and will perk from the start. There will be no rust to remove and no badly gummed up plugs to miss.

Seymour - The Music Activity club held its October meeting in the high school auditorium Tuesday evening with about thirty members present. The program opened with musical numbers by the string ensemble composed of Miss Ruby Voecks, Mrs. E. T. Hawkins and Mrs. Ralph Puls accompanied by Mrs. Genevieve Trace; followed by the clarinet quartet, Mary Ann Trace, Bernard Huettl, Teddy Hawkins and Irene Court, accompanied by Shirley Hein. Mother, 3-Weeks' Old Baby Marooned By Alaskan Storm

Anchorage, Alaska — A mother and 17 day old baby huddled today in an airplane, grounded by a snowstorm on a frozen lake in the Alaska wilderness, awaiting rescue. They have been marooned for two days and nights. The deep snows turned back a dog team, attempting to reach the scene from McGrath, 12 miles away. Another airplane was guided to the spot by the fading radio signals and dropped milk, blankets and cooking utensils. A new attempt now will be made to effect rescue with a dog team. The mother, Mrs. Christian Beckman, and her baby daughter were on their way home from Fairbanks, where the baby was born, when a storm forced the plane down Monday.

OVERHEAD AT TREASURE ISLAND:

Hills Bros. Exposition Theatre at the Golden Gate International Exposition where the sound picture in Cinecolor, "Behind the Cup," was shown.

"...isn't it wonderful how they control the grind of coffee?"

Hills Bros. Coffee

For more detailed instructions on making coffee write for a free copy of the booklet — "The Art of Coffee Making." Address Hills Bros. Coffee, Inc., San Francisco.

"TILL VOTE FOR The Correct Grind"

"By following the directions carefully, The Correct Grind never fails. Hills Bros. Coffee produces perfect results in any type of coffee-maker. I wouldn't think of regaining The Correct Grind, away would go flavor, aroma, and freshness."

IMPORTANT: Carefully observe timing for each method. Measure 2 level tablespoons of coffee to each cup of water. Vary water slightly for exact strength desired. Keep coffee-maker clean.

DRIP METHOD: 6 to 8 minutes per cup. If water is poured too fast, coffee will drip too fast giving weak brew.

GLASS VACUUM METHOD: Put upper bowl on after water boils. Coffee and water should be in contact 5 to 7 minutes.

PERCOLATOR: Start with cold or hot water. "Perf" 7 to 10 minutes after steady pumping starts.

COFFEE POT: Bring coffee and water to boiling. Stir well. Add small amount of cold water and let stand 5 minutes to settle grounds.

STEEPING: Pour boiling water on coffee. Stir well. Steep again in 5 minutes. Steep for a total of 10 to 15 minutes.

"How does that sound to you?"

PREMIUM CRACKERS and Soup

3 big reasons why Premiums do more for you!

THEY'RE FRESHER — Baked in nearby ovens — packed in moisture-proof, sealed cartons... rushed to your dealer in speedy NBC trucks. You'll enjoy these oven-fresh crackers more!

THEY'RE FLAKIER — Extra shortening makes the difference. You can tell that tender, flaky Premiums are a quality cracker by their texture as well as taste.

MORE FLAVORFUL — Premiums are perfectly baked — "topped" with a special kind of salt. They add zest to your soups, salads, cheese, spreads. Order Premiums from your dealer for the week-end. You'll agree they do more for you.

SUGGESTION OF THE WEEK Vary Sunday breakfast this way: Serve creamed flannan haddie or creamed chipped beef on toasted, buttered Premium Crackers.

PREMIUM CRACKERS SALTED

Products of NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY

HIGH ON THE SOCIAL REGISTER of America's cookies stands aristocratic Social Tea Biscuits. Made of fine ingredients — baked to a glorious golden-brown. Dainty... delicious... yet so inexpensive. Enjoy a package this week-end.
